Korea Denies Its Warship Fired on Russian Vessel

Terms Accusation Another Piece Of Communist False Propaganda

Seoul, Korea.—(AP)—South Korea today denied a Russian charge that a South Korean warship fired on an unarmed Soviet survey ship off the North Korean coast Monday.

The South Korean navy termed the accusation "another piece of the communists' usual false propaganda."

The navy issued an initial statement saying that a North Korean ship probably carried out the attack by mistake and that the Korean reds were trying to pin the blame on South Korea.

A navy spokesman also reported that South Korea navy ships had "sighted gunfire" in the area of the reported attack. But later both these statements were deleted from the official navy statement on the charge. No explanation was given.

Threatened Force

The navy said its ships do not operate as far north as the point of the alleged attack—30 miles off the north Korean coast and 36 miles north of the South Korean boundary.

The spot is more than 100 miles south of the course being used by two unarmed Soviet transport ships repairing Korean ships from Japan to North Korea. South Korea had threatened to use force to prevent the migration, but so far is not known to have in-

Crews Work in Stricken Town

Damage From Tide Of Ocean May Reach Million Dollars

Hull, Mass.—(AP)—Red Cross workers began the task of rehabilitating 300 families in this flood stricken town today as pumps gradually reduced several feet of ocean water that had poured over seawalls in the winter's first northeaster.

A section of seawall was opened in the heavily damaged Kemberna section of town and much of the locked in flood waters poured back down the beach. Officials expected all of the errant sea will be off the streets by day's end.

Disaster Area

Pumps worked all night in reducing the murky, debris laden waters that flood 14 streets. Town officials, after resurveying the stricken area, estimated damage would reach a million dollars.

Judy Fails To Find Her Lost Dog

Detroit.—(AP)—Judy Ferren visited several dog pounds and went on a car tour of the city today but failed to find a trace of her lost dog, Jinty.

The 17-year-old English girl was accompanied by newsmen and photographers. When the search failed the girl was taken to the lobby of the Detroit Free Press building to wait. Detroiters had been asked in a Free Press story to bring any stray dog that resembled Jinty to the building for Judy to look at.

Judy arrived back in Detroit last night from St. Thomas, Ont., to resume the hunt for Jinty. The one-year-old female Alsatian shepherd slipped her leash Dec. 23 here and scampered out of a railroad baggage car.

Proxmire Says He Would Enter Wisconsin Primary

New World Champion Liar

Texan Tops Mountain of Mendacity

Burlington.—(AP)—When a Texan says Texas hasn't got the biggest of everything, it's bound to be a lie.

Well, podner, there's a fellow named W. C. Cook in Wichita Falls who fibbed so well about what he says is a Lone Star shortcoming that he's done himself and his state mighty proud. Cook today was named world champion liar for 1959 by the famed Burlington Liars club.

Cook topped this year's mountain of mendacity with a story pinned on—of all things—lack of wind.

Here's the lie he submitted to the club in its annual contest:

"You have heard of big winds. Well, last summer we had so little wind down here that I had to take down two of the three windmills on my ranch to get enough wind to operate the other one. And if I hadn't taken down the fences that were obstructing the wind, that wouldn't have worked."

When the club awards an honorable mention, it may be stretching the term a bit. Nevertheless, the organization saw fit to pin that doubtful honor on three other tales, including one that proves the Arctic circle has a dizzying influence.

Midnight Sun

"About the only crop we can raise up in Manitoba is sunflowers," R. T. McCullough of Winnipeg wrote.

"Being so far north we enjoy the midnight sun, and sunflowers, following the sun around, twist their heads off."

Stretching a point further

— even to getting oneself out on a limb—is a common failing that occasionally extends itself even to the clergy.

For instance, the Rev. Ralph W. Heller of Transfer, Pa., notched himself an honorable mention with this falsehood:

"An ancestor of mine landed in Ohio in pioneer days, and cut down a hollow tree for him and his family to live in, while they cleared ground for a farm. It worked all right for him and his wife, but the kids were always getting lost, chasing squirrels up the hollow limbs."

Mountain Hides Students' Fate

Climbers Believed Lost on Highest Peak in Northeast

Mt. Washington, N. H.—(AP)—Two Michigan State university students were feared lost today on snow-covered, wind-swept Mt. Washington—the northeast's highest peak.

White mountain national forest officials identified the youths as Richard B. Onnier and Harold Karagoshian, both of Watertown, Mass.

Officials said the two were reported to have begun climbing the mountain last Sunday. They have not been heard from since then.

The presidential range, of which Mt. Washington is the highest point, has claimed 45 lives since 1859. Most have been on Mt. Washington.

Several feet of snow have piled on the peak in the past few days.

Eyes Favorite Son Role if Other Opposition for Sen. Humphrey Fails to Develop

Washington.—(AP)—Sen. William Proxmire today welcomed the entry of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey into Wisconsin's presidential primary, but said Humphrey will not win by default.

Unless Humphrey has other opposition, Proxmire said, he himself will run as a favorite son candidate to provide a test of sentiment in the April 5 primary.

Proxmire in effect thus invited Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) to make Wisconsin a principal battleground in his expected bid for the Democratic presidential nomination. Humphrey announced his candidacy yesterday, and Kennedy is expected to do the same on Saturday.

Kennedy's campaign headquarters said the senator will make an announcement at a news conference at 12:30 p.

Invite World Scientists to Study Data

Information Being Sent From Space by Explorer Satellite

Washington.—(AP)—Scientists of Russia and all other nations have been asked to help tap and study space information being sent back by the newest American satellite, Explorer VII.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said yesterday at a news conference it will furnish to any interested and qualified scientists the elementary codes of the space traveler.

The codes would enable deciphering of radio signals from Explorer VII at observation points around the world before the radio transmission is turned off in another 10 months.

Dr. Homer Newell Jr., one of NASA's key scientists, said the codes may also be provided for future satellites. But he indicated each case would have to be considered separately.

Yielding Data

The United States in the past has reported information gleaned from its satellites by American scientists.

NASA said yesterday the 92-pound Explorer VII, launched Oct. 13 from Cape Canaveral, is already yielding data that might help answer some questions about space radiation hazards, the world's weather and atmospheric gremlins that sometimes bedevil radio and other communications systems on earth.

Explorer VII is whirling around the earth at altitudes of between 345 and 670 miles and speeds varying from 16,000 to 17,000 miles an hour.

Nixon Takes Part in Steel Strike Talks

New York.—(AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said steel industry under a Taft-Hartley law injunction. The leaders on both sides in the steel dispute but that no agreement had been reached between the parties.

Said the vice president: "As for what progress has been made, all I can say is that the parties are still meeting and have not reached an agreement."

"As for the prospects of a settlement, I cannot anticipate at this time what the outcome will be."

Nixon said the last meetings were held in Washington yesterday.

Asked whether he is reporting to the president on the situation, Nixon replied:

Parade of Roses

"The president is, of course, always kept informed on meetings in which members of the cabinet participate."

Nixon was questioned at Idlewild airport before he took a plane for Pasadena, Calif., where he is to be grand marshal of the Tournament of Roses parade tomorrow.

Nixon said he had delayed his flight to California in order to take part in the talks yesterday.

Governor of Maine Seated

Serves State Until Jan. 4, 1961, as Interim Executive

Augusta, Maine.—(AP)—A youthful potato grower from Maine's north country solemnly occupied the governor's chair today as a stunned citizen mourned the death of Democratic Gov. Clinton A. Clauson, 64.

In a brief and somber state house ceremony last night, 39-year-old John H. Reed, a Republican, took the office from Chief Justice Robert B. Williamson of the Maine supreme court.

Special Primary

Eighteen hours earlier, Clauson died in his sleep, apparently of a heart attack at the executive mansion. He was within a few days of completing his first year in office.

Reed succeeded to the governorship by virtue of his office as president of the state senate.

He will serve by automatic succession only until Jan. 4, 1961. A special primary will be held next June and the voters will elect a governor in the fall to fill out the remaining two years of Clauson's term.

Clauson's death and Reed's succession gives the nation 34 Democratic and 16 Republican governors.

The Post-Crescent will not publish Friday, New Year's day. We wish all of our readers a happy and prosperous new year.

Fekete, a Hungarian seed expert who escaped in the 1956 revolution, has been living in San Joaquin, Calif., with his son. He credits a direct appeal to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during his recent visit to the United States, for granting of passports to his wife and daughter to come to this country. ## End of Decade? It's a Matter of Semantics

Washington.—(AP)—If you are lieve me, there's always a planning to let off some extra squabble at the turn of a steam this New Year's eve in a century."

Paste the date in your hat decade, think again. You right now: Astronomically speaking, the next century will begin Jan. 1, 2001—not end of a decade. And tonight is certainly the end of the century.

"The reason for our stand," Mrs. Gossner explained, "is that there is no year zero. Thus, the first century began with the year one and ended with—and included—the entire year 100."

And why is there no year zero? Because the Christian era began with the year one.

Astronomers don't take any stand on when a decade had a symbol for zero. It wasn't until about the 13th century that the zero came into the arithmetical reckoning of the western world. The almanac office of the U. S. for that—but communication was poor in those days."

"However, we do take a very definite stand on the matter of centuries, and being, she said.

Little Relief Seen For '59 Labor Headache

Contract Bargaining Showdowns Loom in New Year, Steel Strike Holds Key to Other Industries

Washington — The nation's 1958 labor relations headache isn't likely to ease up much in 1959.

Big contract bargaining show-downs loom in the new year — in the aircraft, electrical, clothing, telephone, glass and airline industries. Coal contracts also can be terminated.

The long steel industry labor stalemate is continuing, with a new strike threatened on Jan. 26 when the present 80-day court injunction runs out. Railroad bargaining, also begun in 1958, posts another 1959 strike possibility.

Steel Leads Way

Whatever happens in the steel and rail disputes, particularly in pace-making steel, is likely to point the way to the trend of 1959 labor negotiations.

Both labor and management regard the steel case as a test of the twin major terfered with the two repatriation ships.

The Russian charge, announced last night by the Soviet news agency Tass, said a South Korean warship of the "Big Hunter" type, No. 205, fired on the hydrographic vessel Ungo, causing heavy damages and a number of casualties. Tass said the attacker then made off to South Korean waters.

Jane's manual on navies lists No. 205 as a former U.S. navy sub chaser which was turned over to the South Koreans. The 136-foot ship carries one 40 mm. and two 20 mm. guns.

Act of Piracy
Tass called the attack a "typical act of piracy on the high sea" and said it showed that South Korea is "guided not by a desire to normalize the situation in the Far East, but by other interests hostile to the cause of peace."

It warned that in the future, "all due measures will be employed with regard to ships resorting to acts of piracy up to and including destruction."

The South Korean navy confirmed that it has a ship numbered 205 of the Hunter type. But a spokesman commented: "The communists, of course, know all identifications of our navy vessels operating in that area, just as we know theirs."

The U.N. command in Seoul, which has over-all control of the South Korean navy, said it had no information on the incident.

Sentence Policeman Accused of Stealing Christmas Charities

Detroit — Convicted of stealing charity Christmas money, former police captain in suburban Royal Oak township was placed on probation for two years and ordered to turn in every week a copy of the Ten Commandments in his own handwriting.

William Ware, who was fired from the police force Monday, also was sentenced Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Lonnie C. Cash to pay a $100 fine or go to jail for 90 days. Ware's attorney said the conviction will be appealed.

Ware was acting chief of police in the predominantly Negro township on the edge of Detroit. He was among eight Negro policemen and firemen arrested by state police who passed out $57 in marked money in buying Goodfellow newspapers. They said only $6 came back, all of it from one man.

Goodfellow newspapers are special Christmas editions offered for sale by policemen, firemen and volunteer groups to provide Christmas gifts for needy children.

The township's trustees fired all the accused policemen and firemen, including Police Sgt. James Gatewood, who was acquitted in his trial before Judge Cash.

Pioneers Run Into Snags In Emigration

Seattle — A group of modern pioneers who planned to sail tonight for new homes in the Galapagos Islands ran into two snags before they could get started.

First, the Coast Guard advised them Wednesday their 30-year-old 100-foot former refrigerator ship, the Alert, was not seaworthy. They started repairs, but soon conceded they couldn't complete them by midnight tonight.

Second, the Ecuadorian consul in Seattle, Cesar Espinoza, said it might take 45 days for the colonists' visas to come through. The Galapagos Islands, 600 miles off the South American coast, belong to Ecuador.

Don Harrsch, president of the Island Development company and skipper of the Alert, said the 20 would-be colonists would go ahead with a shipboard bon voyage party tonight.

Five Days to Go

But he added it will be at least five days before they sail.

The venture has attracted 35 families altogether. Some are to go on a second ship and some by private transportation. Each family has put up $2,500.

They plan to farm and fish after settling on San Cristobal Island. Espinoza said he understands they plan to buy land valued at $300,000.

Commented the Ecuadorian: "This is a very good plan, but I think they no have enough money."

Connelly, Caudle Win Jail Stay

St. Louis — Two Truman administration officials have won another skirmish in their fight to stay out of prison.

The U. S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals Wednesday granted a 30-day stay of a mandate ordering Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle to begin serving 2-year sentences for conspiracy in a tax case.

The court said the stay would remain in effect until the U. S. Supreme Court rules on the defendants' motion for a review of the appellate court's denial of new trial.

Connelly was White House appointments secretary to former President Truman. Caudle was former chief of the justice department's tax division.

They have twice sought Supreme Court intervention without success.

They were convicted in 1956 of conspiring to block prosecution of tax evader Irvin Sachs of St. Louis.

Town Finds Use for Old Christmas Trees

Ocean City, N.J. — Found: a use for old Christmas trees.

Mayor Nathaniel Smith Wednesday asked residents to turn in their 1958 trees to be placed on the beach. He said the trees would be lined up as a windbreak to keep sand from blowing away.

Fred Nonnemaker, executive secretary of the dealers' organization, said the dairymen rejected an offer to boost the price of milk sold by the farmers by 34 cents per 100 pounds. He estimated that would increase the payments to the dairymen about $12 million a year and boost retail up to 5 cents a quart.

William Ware, who was fired from the police force Monday, also was sentenced Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Lonnie C. Cash to pay a $100 fine or go to jail for 90 days. Ware's attorney said the conviction will be appealed.

Ware was acting chief of police in the predominantly Negro township on the edge of Detroit. He was among eight Negro policemen and firemen arrested by state police who passed out $57 in marked money in buying Goodfellow newspapers. They said only $6 came back, all of it from one man.

DA Can't Also Hold Family Court Post

Madison — A district attorney cannot also serve as a family court commissioner.

Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds held in an opinion to Dist. Atty. H. F. Renard of Washington county today.

In answer to a query from Renard, Reynolds said the state constitution defines the job of court commissioner as judicial in nature and declares a district attorney cannot hold a judicial office while serving as prosecutor.

A passerby views Nazi swastikas and a painted sign "Juden Raus" (Jews get out) whitewashed on a synagogue in London's Notting Hill section early today. It is the same area where anti-Negro race riots occurred last year. The anti-Jewish incident paralleled similar anti-Semitic acts throughout Germany this week.

Hedda Hopper Loses 8 Film Personalities

Withdraw From Jan. 10 Show, NBC Says Changes Only Represent 'Final Casting'

New York — Eight movie personalities have withdrawn from "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" TV show, but they have been replaced by other film notables, says the National Broadcasting company.

NBC said Wednesday the changes for the Jan. 10 show merely represented "final casting" and had nothing to do with CBS-TV star Ed Sullivan's charges that Miss Hopper paid off in newspaper column mentions instead of money.

Sullivan, also a newspaper columnist, took his complaint to two unions — the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA) and the Screen Actors guild. The guild said the matter was not in its jurisdiction. AFTRA is investigating.

Withdrawing from the show, NBC said, were Charlton Heston, Mickey Rooney, Bette Davis, Steve McQueen, Gary Merrill, Robert Horton, Joan Crawford, and Tuesday Weld.

The replacements, the network said, will be Bob Hope, Robert Cummings, Don Murray, Hope Lange, Janet Gaynor, Harold Lloyd, John Casavetes, and Venita Stevens.

Heston said he stepped out of the show because of Sullivan's charges. Heston said he did not realize the program would be telecast nationally, competing with the regular Sullivan show on which Heston recently was paid $10,000 for an appearance.

Heston said it would be "a dirty trick" to appear on the Hopper show for the $210 minimum for a non-performing appearance.

A Hollywood trade publication Wednesday quoted AFTRA as saying it has learned that the 30 film personalities slated for the Hopper show would be paid the $210 minimum, with each appearing about one minute.

Stanford Surgeons Perform Successful Heart Transplant

Stanford, Calif. — There's a little mongrel dog — let's call him "Butch" — who is alive today, thanks to another unnamed dog. Butch has his heart.

Two Stanford medical research surgeons, Dr. Norman Shumway, 36, and Dr. Richard Lower, 30, performed an unusual operation last week and announced Wednesday that Butch had a new heart, taken from another dog and still lived after the transplanting.

Other physicians hailed the operation. It is not known to what extent it might apply to humans, but the fact the dog has lived for a week was regarded as remarkable. Other heart transplants have been performed, but not for much length of life.

Snowslide Off Roof Buries 12 Skiers

Aosta, Italy — About 120 cubic yards of snow slid off the roof of a cableway station in the Alpine foothills and buried 12 Italian skiers waiting for a cable car.

For an hour, while Alpine troops dug to their rescue, the holiday-makers lay helpless, gasping for breath.

All were saved. A 51-year-old Italian woman had suffered head and back injuries. The others were released after first aid treatment.

for Democratic principles, if elected, a great president."

Proxmire said, however, that unless Kennedy or some other contender enters the state contest he himself will run as a favorite son candidate.

"But I won't make the race as long as the voters have a choice," Proxmire said in an interview.

That seemed to refer to Kennedy. Among the others prominently mentioned for the nomination, Adlai E. Stevenson, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) have all made it clear they will not willingly let their names go into any primaries.

Oregon Ballot

All may find themselves on the ballot in Oregon's May 20 primary, with or without their consent.

Humphrey said he is going into that state willingly, as well as into tests in the District of Columbia May 3 and South Dakota June 7.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), who has said it is inevitable his name will be on the Oregon ballot, declined to comment on whether he will oppose Humphrey for the District of Columbia's nine convention votes.

Humphrey's long-expected entry into the nomination race brought approving plaudits from some of his Democratic colleagues but no noticeable surge of support.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said he considers Humphrey "one of the outstanding senators and a man of great ability, integrity and courage."

"He is a good man in every sense of the word and if he were nominated he would face up to the issues and everybody would know what his position would be," Mansfield said.

But the Montana senator added it is up to the national convention to choose the nominee and he isn't taking sides now.

Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.) called Humphrey "a man of highest integrity," adding that "I think he would make a great president."

But Chavez said he is going to look over all of the candidates before he decides which one to support.

Former Teacher Shoots at Youths, Kills Himself

Brawley, Calif. — An unemployed former schoolteacher, long a friend of children in his neighborhood, shot at five persons for no apparent reason Wednesday, then killed himself.

Police said Leroy Fink, about 35, barricaded himself in his cabin and for more than an hour refused to surrender.

After they fired three tear gas shells into the house, two shots were heard. Fink lay on the bathroom floor, shot through the chest.

Officers were called after neighbors reported that Fink strolled out and fired his rifle at three youth playing about 200 yards away. Ricky Alan Wise, 14, was seriously wounded in the abdomen.

Several other persons narrowly escaped being wounded.

A neighbor said Fink had been threatening him without cause.

Instead, Chiang described Mao as a fanatical Stalinist, struggling for his own survival but not opposing the Soviet Union in the communist bloc.

"In the eyes of Khrushchev," Chiang continued, "Mao today is a stillborn baby inside the womb of the international communist bloc which needs to be removed and buried."

Chiang claimed Khrushchev is trying to liquidate Mao and establish direct control over the cadres of the Chinese com-

PSC Approves Air Freight In Fox Cities

Autos Will Pick Up Packages Less Than 200 Pounds

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A fast air freight service from the Winnebago county airport at Oshkosh to all points on Highway 41 between Oshkosh and Kaukauna has been approved by the public service commission.

The National Rental Service, Oshkosh, already authorized to transport passengers, was granted a freight service certificate.

The service will be limited to packages of less than 200 pounds. The application was endorsed by North Central Airlines. Threatened opposition by other commercial carriers was withdrawn when the 200-pound limit was proposed.

"The Fox River valley is highly industrialized, and air freight service is used extensively," the commission order said.

The additional service will provide the public in the Fox Cities with limousine service to and from the airport for all flights. No one is providing the complete service and a public need exists."

The commission explained numerous requests have been on file for such service. Under present arrangements air freight must be picked up by the consignees which is inconvenient and expensive.

Road Property Up for Sale

Sherwood — Property owned by the state highway commission in Sherwood has recently been declared excessive right of way and is being offered for sale.

The lot is located in the southwest corner of a curve in Highway 55-114 in the village. It was the location of a tavern when purchased by Calumet county from Cyril Fries in July, 1951. The building was razed. The lot, at the time of purchase, was approximately 110 by 220 feet.

Title of the land was transferred to the state highway commission as right of way to round out what was formerly a dangerously sharp curve in the highway with poor visibility. Its intersection with County Trunk M was also improved.

To date, no record of its sale has been made with Germaine Hume, register of the Weiterman heads a committee consisting of Walter Winske, Robert Bachman, Marilyn E. Olson, Roy Schulze and Marcel Friis. The business division of the Red Cross drive will get underway Feb. 9.

Al Capone's Estate Sues for Million as Result of TV Show

Chicago — Al Capone's estate has filed one million dollar damage suit because of a television network show, "The Untouchables."

The suit brought in superior court by Mafalda Maritote, administrator of the estate, alleged Capone's name, likeness and personality were used for profit by the defendants without consent of the Capone family.

"The Untouchables," a dramatization of the events of 1929, was presented over the Columbia Broadcasting System in April and October 1959. Defendants in addition to CBS are Desilu Productions, Inc., the producer, and Westinghouse Electric corporation, the sponsor.

Total 87 Years

Couple Retires From Soo Line Together

A total of 87 years—that's what Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Pointer, 1030 E. Marquette street, have put in for the Soo Line railroad.

Both of them have worked for railroads all of their lives, mostly for the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway company. Both retire from that line today. Pointer is station agent at the depot at 812 W. College avenue. His wife, Linda works as a cashier there. He has worked for the railroad for 49 years and she has worked for 39.

Mr. and Mrs. Pointer will move from Appleton to their newly-built home in Tucson, Ariz., Saturday. Pointer expects a new station agent will be named Tuesday by the Soo Line's main office in Minneapolis.

Born In Michigan

Pointer was born in Fremont, Mich., about 30 miles east of Muskegon, in 1892 and started work for the Soo Line in 1914 at Rudyard, Mich., in the upper Peninsula. He be-

"good" friends in the best sense of the word.

Happiness Arrives

Strangers wrote to say nice things, or telephoned for so little a thing as to say that they liked a recent column I had written. Happiness had come to me. The year has been a lovely one for my family.

Our home is modest but we can see the sunset every night, unhidden by tall buildings. It does not require a major expedition to get into a trout stream or to take my sons for a walk in a lovely woodland. Far from the raucous voices of the big city we can hear birds sing and we can see the wild flowers growing when we want to.

You have been good to me. You have told me in the last year that I have "made it," and that I am accepted among you both as a writer and as a person. For this and for the other pleasures you have given me and which have come to me by living here, I am grateful.

We — my family and I — thank you for helping me through the first year and for opening the door to the happiest home we have ever had.

Now the 384 acres will become part of a $120 million residential and commercial development.

Block School Milk Cutback, Nelson Urges

Madison — The executive office reported today that Gov. Gaylord Nelson has urged congress to block a planned cutback in the federal school milk program.

Nelson wrote to Rep. Lester Johnson (D-Black River Falls), chairman of the house dairy subcommittee, urging efforts for a more adequate authorization of funds for the program.

The governor noted that school officials have been informed that the federal allowance for milk buying would be reduced March 1 because of low funds. "Instead of cutting back

Pilots Interested in Forming Flying Club

Clintonville — Persons interested in forming a local flying club for private planes are invited to attend a meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the municipal airport.

Six privately-owned planes are based at the airport at the present time, and a number of persons has expressed interest in forming a flying club.

the special milk program we ought to expand it aggressively until every school child in America is able to get milk in school," Nelson said.

"Even in Wisconsin, only about 60 per cent of the school children are now participating in the program. The national participation rate is much lower."

Busy Week Ahead on TV Networks

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

New York — It seems obvious that network programmers believe the best cure for hangovers is a combination of parade-and-football watching. New Year's day schedules are crammed with them.

First things first, however: If you got your reservations mixed up or if you prefer to stay home tonight, there are plenty of New Year's eve parties you may attend vicariously and without payment — then or the morning after. CBS will throw its regular and final "Big Party" (8:30 to 10 p.m.) with a galaxy of stars and entertainers. Dick Clark's festivities on ABC will start at 10 p.m.: good, gray Guy Lombardo takes over the CBS cameras at 10:30, just as Arlene Francis starts acting as substitute hostess on NBC's Jack Paar show.

Both ABC and NBC will televise the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade, starting at 10:30 a.m. Friday. And from 11:45 a.m. until after dark NBC and CBS will be broadcasting bowl football games — Orange, Sugar, Cotton and, of course, Rose. Possibly the best will be the Cotton bowl from Dallas — unbeaten Syracuse university playing the University of Texas. Friday night, in case you're weary of sports, there's the Telephone Hour of Music (7:30 to 8:30 p.m., NBC).

On Saturday there is some more football and basketball in the afternoon, but Sunday is the busy TV time. At 10 a.m. CBS premieres its "Fyi," a new public affairs show, with an examination of crime in New York City. At 2 p.m. CBS kicks off its new weekly "Sunday Sports Spectacular," and at 5 p.m. Sen. John F. Kennedy turns up on NBC's "Meet the Press." Later, there's "The Margaret Bourke White Story" on NBC's Sunday Showcase (7 to 8 p.m.) followed on the same network by Janet Blair in "Around the World with Nellie Bly."

On Monday, ABC's new audience participation show, "About Faces," starts, with Ben Alexander as host. On Tuesday evening, Audie Murphy stars in "The Man," a mystery story on NBC's Startime (8:30 to 9:30 p.m.). And on Thursday night CBS brings us Maureen O'Hara in "Mrs. Miniver" (8:30 to 10 p.m.).

Play on Trial Of Civil War Great Drama

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

In "The Andersonville Trial"

derives from the same fear

some episode of the American Civil war which several years ago provided Mackin-theater. It blazes with emotional excitement.

The author is Saul Levitt, a recruit from TV and films.

The chief roles in the large all-male company are performed by George C. Scott,

Albert Dekker and Herbert

Bergman, familiar on TV

captain, Henry Wirz, who commanded the Georgia

stockade where 14,000 Union troops died in less than two years.

In building its keen dramatic high-tension, the play explores beyond mere recital of courtroom events. Levitt seeks the motives beneath the acts of defendant and prosecutor, ponders the ethical basis of human behavior.

He and Ferrer manage

these elements without ever permitting a letdown in the sustained impact.

Governors and Martial Law

Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota was given a severe rebuke by three federal judges who unanimously authorized an injunction to restrain him and the Minnesota National Guard from interfering with the operation of Wilson and Company packing plant at Albert Lea, Minn. Subsequent events indicate clearly that the federal judges were unquestionably correct and that Gov. Freeman was wrong. It must be said to Gov. Freeman's credit that he apparently recognized the truth in the court's statement and arranged to comply immediately.

The Wilson plant had been struck by the United Packing House Workers Union and trouble developed on the picket lines when the company attempted to operate the plant in spite of the strike. There had been two days of disorder when, at the request of local authorities, Gov. Freeman sent the National Guard to Albert Lea. After a visit, Gov. Freeman proclaimed the area under martial law and ordered the plant closed. This brought a petition from the company to the court which issued the injunction against the governor and the guard unit.

The 3-judge court was composed of United States District Judges Edward J. Devitt and Gunnar Nordbye and United States Circuit Judge John B. Sanborn. The three judges were unanimous in their decision and they took the occasion to point out that "military rule cannot be imposed upon a community simply because it may seem more expedient than to enforce the law by using the National Guard to aid the local civil authorities." And the court added, "It would be a shocking reflection on the stability of our state government if the state could not quell the mob action in Freeborn county without declaring martial law and decreeing the privation of constitutional rights of those who are the victims of lawlessness."

'Ring in the New!'

Practically every verse that is written about the New Year concerns itself with the ills of the year past and the possibilities of brighter skies and happier events. Thomas Hood wrote about

"Ye, who have met with Adversity's blast,
And been bow'd to the earth by its fury;
To whom the Twelve Months, that have recently pass'd
Were as harsh as a prejudiced jury—
Still, fill to the Future! and join in our chime!"

Tennyson bemoaned the "flying cloud, the frosty light," while George Cooper agreed that "its grief and pain ne'er can come again, and its care lies buried deep!"

This New Year's Eve we finish not only 12 months but another decade which is all the more symbolic of the aspirations and dreams of mankind. That which we did in the Fifties we shall try to avoid in the Sixties; we turn over, not only a new leaf, a new day, a new year but a new decade

Truck Load Weights

We sometimes have expressed reservations about the demands of the trucking industry of the state for legal authority to carry heavier loads on the public highways, now approved with the signature of Gov. Nelson on a new law raising peak loads to 73,000 pounds.

We note with interest that some of the leaders of the lower house of the legislature, in spite of Gov. Nelson's sympathetic handling of the matter, spoke out vigorously against the weight liberalization. This may mean that the Wisconsin Truckers association has a persuasive legislative committee, or that these house leaders are not informed about the latest developments in this difficult field.

For the fact is that this is a highly technical question, upon which the average man is not competent to speak and must rely upon the technicians who are employed to provide guidance. In this instance the experts were either quiet, or willing to endorse the higher weight provisions in the law. The highway department is on the record as expressing no opposition, and in the face of such testimony the governor and the legislative majority probably were quite justified in granting the wishes of the freight haulers.

Fluoridation Pays Off, But Some Cities Lag

From The Milwaukee Journal

Milwaukeeans can count dividends on six years of water fluoridation. And now about half Wisconsin's total population gets water containing enough fluorides (naturally or artificially added) to reduce dental decay substantially. Already, according to Milwaukee's health commissioner, fluoridation has saved about $1 million here in costs of dental care. He notes there is no way to estimate savings "in such important factors as impairment of ability to speak, faulty chewing, poor nutrition, entry of infection through abscessed teeth."

Since the greatest benefit is during the period when children's teeth are forming, the communities that have had adequate fluoridation for longer periods have greater gains, relatively. More than 25 Wisconsin communities with a public water supply that naturally contains fluorides — up to almost three times what is deemed "adequate" for artificial fluoridation — are the most fortunate. Sheboygan, with a demonstration fluoridation project that began in 1946, has shown a reduction of more than 50 per cent in the evidence of dental decay among school children in seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Of Wisconsin people served by public water supplies, 73 per cent (based on 1950 census figures) now get water containing what health authorities consider adequate fluoridation, putting us second among all the states. Illinois has just passed us with 75 per cent because Chicago, with its huge population, has started fluoridation. Nine important Wisconsin cities are lagging — Kenosha, La Crosse, Superior, Waukesha, Manitowoc, Waukesha, Stevens Point, Cudahy and Chippewa Falls. These and the small communities that need fluoridation are unnecessarily penalizing themselves most of all, financially and in health.

There was more of the same but it merely elaborates the point. Efforts have been made to compare the use of martial law by Gov. Freeman with the action by Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas in using the National Guard to prevent Negro students from attending the Little Rock High School. The two cases are different in many respects but it is pretty clear they are similar in one important way. In both cases the guards were instructed to prevent people — the Negro students in Little Rock and the non-striking workers in Albert Lea — from enjoying their constitutional rights. In both cases the National Guard was instructed to bring about the same condition that those outside the law would have accomplished if they had been given free rein. The Arkansas high school was closed to Negro students who had a right to attend under the constitution of the United States and the non-striking workers were prevented from entering the packing plant although they had a perfect right to go to work under the constitution of the United States. The packing plant has since opened and, with the National Guard assisting the local police in keeping order, there has been no great difficulty, thus proving the judgment of the court completely accurate.

There can be no doubt but Gov. Faubus and Gov. Freeman both acted in the manner of the politician taking what he thinks to be the popular side of an issue and thus the best vote-getting position. Both Gov. Faubus and Gov. Freeman are highly intelligent men, well able to know the right and the wrong of the situation, but who nevertheless acted politically. Thus it is pretty clear that the people of this country are fortunate indeed to have an authority such as the federal court to prevent our states from becoming a group of 50 private kingdoms in which governors are free to use the National Guard as they see fit.

with all its advantages and chances for glory and wonder.

Actually this is not pure wishful thinking or merely an attempt of most people to put behind them their mistakes and sorrows. Psychiatrist Karl Menninger writes that one of the main problems of mankind is that hope often remains buried in Pandora's wondrous box. St. Paul declared that hope should stand alone with love and Martin Luther wrote that "everything that is done in the world is done by hope." It is the loss of hope that causes the voodoo deaths, the despair that is the most serious of all sins, the real end to life itself.

So with the arrival of the New Year, the sometimes alcoholic gaities, the prayers that are said, the vows made and re-made, the resolutions sworn, are part of this effervescent hope that buoys up man. It is the eternal and ever renewed joy of life.

"Then sing, young hearts that are full of cheer,
With never a thought of sorrow;
The old goes out, but the glad young year
Comes merrily in tomorrow!"

Aside from the question of road damage that may or may not be involved, the transport firms had a reasonably effective argument when they talked about their competitive difficulties.

Other states with which Wisconsin is in immediate economic competition have had more favorable legislation covering the truckers. The national government has established a 73,000 pound load limit standard for the new Interstate road system. Much of the manufacturing and distribution business of Wisconsin is peculiarly dependent upon highway transportation. Manifestly a more restrictive load statute had to be reflected in higher distribution and processing costs.

We would offer one hopeful suggestion to the legislature, however. Let this new limit stand, until we have provided definitive data on the relation of road wear to vehicle weights. Each time this question has come up during the last decade there is a promise that a research project somewhere is nearing completion and that soon the answers will be available. If the next legislature or the one following finds further demands for truck load liberalization, there is likely to be some skeptical reaction among the road taxpayers.

Feels Only Government Can Insure Adequate Medical Care

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The article from the A. M. A. journal, which you reprinted on Dec. 21, merely ments to individuals. But some of us sometimes need more than that.

It may be said that we have medical insurance schemes already. The answer is that they are not adequate. Even with them, a hard-working person's painfully accumulated savings can be wiped out inside a couple of weeks.

It may be said further that we don't want the government running our medical services. This, of course, is the A. M. A. attitude. But this has nothing to do with the principle of comprehensive insurance. The government need not handle it; it could be done entirely by private organizations, as now. The differences would be that it would be comprehensive and it would be universal.

The people in question are not just the "undeserving poor," either. Many of them are people in other respects not badly off whose income nevertheless cannot stretch to the extent of the care they need. A person who cannot afford a Cadillac must go without it and this need not cause us any concern. But what is the person who cannot afford medical care to do? To say, as some people do, that it is up to everyone to provide against emergencies just does not answer the case. The enormity of the emergency is often such that, even with perfect foresight, one's means could never be administered to provide for it. The only possible answer is insurance.

It is a curious fact that those who argue most strenuously against comprehensive medical insurance will nevertheless accept the wisdom of insurance against fire, automobile accidents, etc. Why not health insurance? In each case the argument is that the impact of the emergency, if it comes, can be so damaging that the only feasible protection is to spread its effects among those participating in the arrangement. Relatively few of us (though, of course, too many) suffer loss from fire, many more of us (but still relatively few) suffer automobile accidents. But all of us need medical care at some time. If all we ever needed was an annual check-up and an occasional visit to or by a doctor, there would be some argument for leaving the financial arrangement solution to an urgent social problem. Does the A. M. A. suggest that doctors in Britain and in Canada, for instance, are betraying the ethical standards of their profession?

There are some problems so great that they cannot be left to individual initiative even in a society devoutly attached to the principles of private enterprise. Defense, education, roads are a few of the social needs that can be met only by social arrangements.

Adequate medical care is another. It is incredible and unforgivable that in this, the richest country in the world, with perhaps the finest medical care available in the world, there are people who nevertheless cannot fully share in that care.

Players Change Sides—That's All

From The Lima (Ohio) News

When socialism secures the upper hand in any community there is always a schism formed among the people. Some become "subversives" and seek to do away with the socialist rules and regulations; others become collaborators and do all they can to aid and abet socialism.

Watch Night Services Planned

70 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Jan. 1, 1881.

Rev. S. N. Griffith, the earnest and able pastor of the Methodist Church, has arranged for watch night services to be held on Friday evening in the basement of the church, beginning at 8 o'clock and continuing until 12. There will be a sermon, prayer and praise service and Love Feast, to which all are cordially invited.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 27, 1934

Reductions of $3.700 in water rates and $10,200 in electric rates of the New London municipal water and electric plants were ordered by the public service commission.

Legislation to regulate and license those companies which finance installment purchases of automobiles, furniture and other large items of household expense was advocated by Chairman Peter A. Cleary of the state banking commission.

George Nolting, manager of the S. S. Kresge Co. store and chairman of the Appleton retail code authority, was seated as president of the Appleton Kiwanis club.

Nine proposed sites for the new courthouse for Winnebago county were to be listed in the report of a special committee named to investigate and submit a report at the county board session on Jan. 7.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Dec. 29, 1949

Three more mysterious Russian ships were reported in the Caribbean area where the largest United States peacetime maneuvers in history soon were to be held. The vessels were described by authorities as "fishing ships" — but without fishing gear and equipped with extremely powerful radios.

A star 27 times hotter than the sun was reported. Dr. Thornton Page of Yerkes Observatory, Chicago, said the star, which was centered in a ring nebula, had a surface temperature of 270 degrees Fahrenheit. His disclosure was made in a paper at the eighty-second annual convention of the American Astronomical society.

If Sen. Byrd's proposed $36 billion federal budget were adopted, at a saving of $74 billions, Outagamie county taxpayers would save $3,757,500, almost twice as much as they paid in Wisconsin income taxes that year, according to a Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce analysis.

Highway Beauties

Vs. Hospital Needs

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — An upper Wisconsin reader suggests that this correspondent missed the point in a recent dispatch contrasting the luxuriance of highway spending under a gasoline sales tax system, with the financial hunger of the Wyngaard state treasury under a succession of administrations that were afraid to enact a general sales tax for general governmental purposes.

A couple of examples may suffice. The state is spending for landscaping on some of the new road segments recently completed, merely the sodding and seeding of the right of way and the planting of ornamental trees and shrubs, more than the legislature this year after long and painful deliberation decided it could afford to spend for a new hospital for the study of mentally disturbed children.

The highway commission is preparing to construct a series of comfort stations on the new Interstate highway system, at a price that is greater than the sum asked in dozens of appropriation measures for other purposes in the legislature this year but were casually kicked aside because the general fund didn't have the money.

Let the state reduce the motor fuel tax, if there is a disparity in the level of spending between the highway department and the other public service agencies, the reader suggested with some asperity.

May this reporter reply, quite respectfully, that the upper Wisconsin critic has missed the point.

There is no slightest prospect for a reduction in the level of highway taxation. There isn't a man in the legislature who would seriously propose such a thing. And there are some members of the legislature who already are thinking privately about the chance of raising the rate of highway taxation in order to provide even more money for highway improvements or relief of the local property tax budgets which are supplementing the road user taxes to a greater degree than most persons realize.

THE REASON

The highway fund's comparative luxury was linked with the state general fund

These illustrations are not intended to disparage the highway department or its works. They are intended to show the sharp differences in the control of expenditures reflecting the differences in taxing methods.

CONTRADICTION

There are those who demand that the highway fund segregation act be repealed, and that highway taxes be pooled in the general fund and disbursed according to the needs for all public services.

Some curiosity was expressed in the earlier dispatch about the fact that some of these critics are professed liberals who clamor indignantly against the idea of other sales taxes. Yet if it is proper and just to tax motor fuel used by the average man for the support of schools, for example, is it necessarily improper to tax his purchase of a lawn mower or a tube of shaving cream?

The point is that income taxes and property taxes are painful taxes, hard to raise, increasingly difficult to rely upon in an era of constantly exploding governmental service demands. Sales taxes are easy to collect, stable, productive, as shown by the ironic contrast between a free-wheeling comfort station construction program without a word of disapproval from the electorate and the soul-searching and reluctant approval of watered-down appropriations for such more exigent and conscientious purposes as children's hospitals.

If that is missing the point, so be it.

Delayed Pay Boost Keeps Man on Job

Kenton, Ohio — After several years with no pay raises, city water clerk Al Brielmaier phoned Mayor John Cook that he was quitting. "Why, Al," replied the mayor, "You got a 22 percent raise two years ago." It turned out Brielmaier was the only city employee who had not received the raise. He decided to stay on at his new salary of $15 monthly.

Town's Name Clears Weather Complaints

From The Columbus Citizen-Journal

An alert American correspondent cables from India that the town of Pooh was completely snowed under the other day. Seven inches fell, bringing on a crisis of sorts. We would be properly sympathetic, except that we're sure the local chamber of commerce will pooh-pooh it.

Keep Constant Vigil to Stop Rheumatic Fever

The finest gift the people of Wisconsin can give their children this year costs nothing. It's a winter-long vigil to make sure they are protected from rheumatic fever, which usually are usually more dangerous and difficult for children — the cause of dren. The cold weather, but the place to stop it 90 per cent of all childhood months bring outbreaks of streptococcus infection — home.

Our rigorous winters, generally considered by laymen to be "hard on the heart" for older folks, actually are usually more dangerous and difficult for children — the cause of dren. The cold weather, but the place to stop it 90 per cent of all childhood months bring outbreaks of streptococcus infection — home.

Modern medicine, through the miracle of penicillin therapy, can do much to prevent recurrences of rheumatic fever, although the rule is not inflexible. It begins respiratory infections, develops most extensively in crowded places, notably rheumatic fever.

Contradictions, Paradoxes in U. S. Caused Discomfort During the '50s

BY RELMAN MORIN

AP Staff Writer

Americans came to the end of the 50s with more of everything, more wealth, more cars, more schools and churches, more gadgets, more babies—and more self doubt—than ever before.

A vague shadow of uneasiness spread across the land.

"There is an overwhelming feeling here that somehow we have lost our way," wrote James Reston, Washington correspondent of the New York Times. "Nobody seems to know just how or why, but everybody feels that something's wrong."

Washington — Children from 9 to 12 years of age show greater nervousness and have more fears, anxieties and worries these days than in past years. That is the opinion of many of approximately 1,300 educators who have worked with children of those ages during the past four years.

No Sense of Purpose

Contrasting today with the 1930s, Dr. Charles Frankel, professor of philosophy and sociology said, "Our society has met many great challenges and quite successfully in other years. But today it is drifting and has no sense of purpose."

Again and again, observers of the American scene spoke of "drift" and "a lack of a sense of purpose."

How to explain this? "We have been too much absorbed, I feel, in the mere enjoyment of a prosperous life behind our defensive curtain of nuclear power," said Sec. of State Herter.

But did this "defensive curtain" permit Americans to feel secure?

Danger Undiminished

"It (The United States) is approaching a peak of danger the like of which has never been experienced by a great nation . . . mortal peril from an avowed enemy who is constantly growing stronger," wrote Oskar Morganstern in "The Question of National Defense."

Were Americans worrying about an apparent unravelling in the moral fabric of their society?

On a single day, New York newspapers published on their front pages (1) news of TV quiz rigging, (2) discovery of widespread graft in short-weight sales of meat, (3) two reporters fired after one admitted hoax, (4) an investigation of "payola" to disc jockeys.

Sherman Adams felt compelled to leave government. Charles Van Doren, weeping before a congressional committee, admitted he had participated in a shoddy masquerade.

Moral Obtuseness

"In the world of Van Doren," wrote Dr. Hans J. Morgenthau, Chicago professor of political science. "American society beheads its own world, schools. The budget for national securities, of wealth and power, curtailed more than tripled, moved . . . It convicts itself of a sing from $13 billion in 1950 moral obtuseness which signs to an estimated $45.7 billion by the end of the decade. This was less than 10 per cent of the GNP. (Estimated Russian outlay for de-tense: 25 to 30 per cent of the GNP.)

Television—until the "rigging disclosures"—stressed quiz shows, westerns and gunplay. The private eye also dominated paperback novels. Bosoms on the jacket, unadorned sex inside, appeared to be the reason why books became best-sellers.

Yet, Dr. Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia university, pointed to an opposite trend in American culture. He said:

Culture Booms

"We may not agree on the canons of good art but we are more interested in it than ever before. We have more exhibitions to see, more galleries to frequent. More newspapers devote columns and pages to discussions of art. . . . Has there ever been a time when so many Americans were interested in good music?"

Architects, artists and city planners frequently complained. "With all America's wealth, we seem to be able to afford everything but beauty."

Yet some 100 American cities mapped plans for revamping their downtown areas. Said Architect Edward Durell Stone:

"This need, bred in despair, may result in beautiful, park-like downtown areas, free of automobiles, with cars parked around the periphery."

"It may be that we have seen the start of a renaissance in the arts of this country."

Many Paradoxes

So the paradoxes appeared in the many-sided mirror of the nation.

Two other great currents were running.

One was toward suburbia. By the end of the decade, an estimated 47 million Americans—one in four—were living in areas which could be called neither country nor city.

The other was toward a society which, if graphed, would look like an onion. The majority of Americans were in the middle-and upper-middle income groups. So the center of the graph bulges. Minorities of rich and poor constitute the top and bottom. Some analysts called it a "classless society."

Statistics indicated the contours.

Widespread Prosperity

More than 41 per cent of all American families were earning over $5,000 a year. The New York Stock exchange said 12,490,000 people owned publicly-held stocks of whom 77.3 per cent had a household income of $7,000 annually.

The comparable figures for 1952 were 61 million people who owned stocks. Opportunities for higher education opened for many more Americans, not only through increased income but through grants and scholarships: about one-third of the men and women of college age were actually attending college. There were many such barometers.

Out of these two charac-

Reds Behind Anti-Semitism In Germany

Adverse Publicity Could Damage German Government

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — The anti-Semitic outburst in West Germany has all the earmarks of having been artificially contrived by the propagandists of the Soviet Union. Its obvious purpose would be to impair Chancellor Adenauer's position in the western world and alienate the good opinion which has been developed toward West Germany in recent years.

Demonstrations of anti-Semitism have been denounced by the Adenauer government, and there is every indication that the German people deplore such evidences of religious bigotry. But the same cannot be said of the Soviet government. Here, for instance, is a revealing dispatch from Manchester, England:

"The Manchester Guardian, a liberal newspaper, today said that anti-Jewish feelings in Russia are being encouraged both by newspaper articles and by administrative measures."

Hooliganism or Policy?

"The Guardian-cited recently published reports that in Malakha, fifteen miles from Moscow, the synagogue was set on fire in October as well as the cottage of the caretaker of the Jewish cemetery, whose wife died in the blaze.

"Such outrages may be acts of hooliganism, rather than of deliberate policy," the Guardian said. "But there is no evidence that the authorities are taking energetic steps to stamp out this evil before it spreads."

"The newspaper said that synagogues were being closed and Jewish cemeteries requisitioned."

Just a few hours after the Manchester Guardian article appeared, the news wires were telling of the desecration of a rebuilt Jewish synagogue in Cologne, West Germany, which Chancellor Adenauer had helped dedicate last September. On Christmas eve, swastikas and slogans saying "Germans demand that Jews get out" were smeared on the temple walls in red and white.

Undoubtedly there are still anti-Semites in Germany, and the communists know how to utilize them. There is reason to believe the Moscow government has stimulated some of the former Nazis who reside in Argentina and in the United States to foment friction between religious groups.

In this country not so long ago synagogues in widely separated parts of the west and south were smeared with paint, and then there were anonymous telephone calls which were couched in typical communist phrases such as now are emerging in West Germany.

Double Talk

The Moscow strategists are not averse to double talk either. Though atheism is one of the basic tenets of communism, and Christmas is not celebrated in the Soviet Union, the Moscow radio on Christmas day hypocritically beamed an appeal to "Christians in the United States."

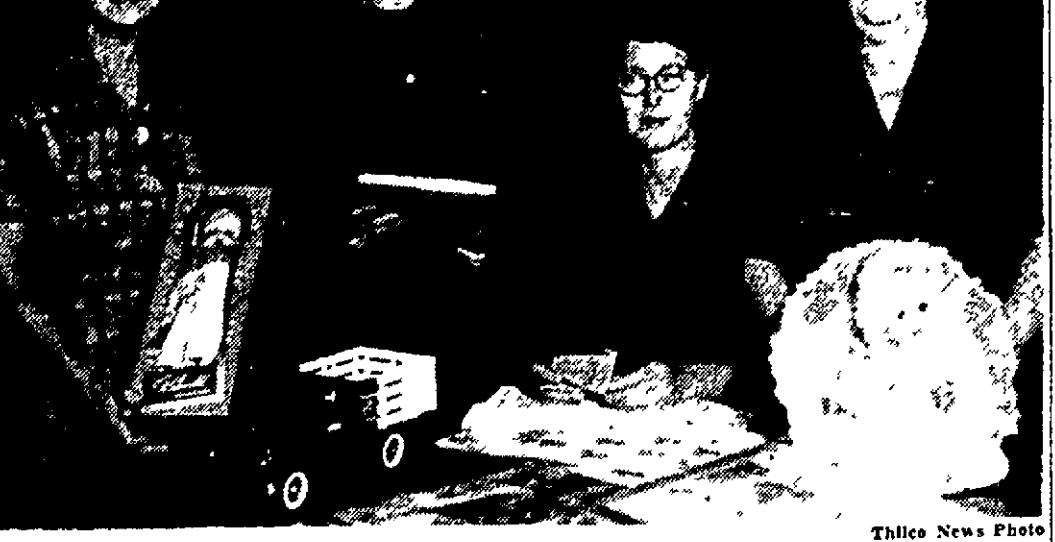

It called for "universal disarmament," taking the usual communist line. Likewise, the broadcast made a point of saying that Christmas services were held "in all Catholic churches," while carefully omitting mention that only a few such churches are permitted to function in Russia.

The Soviet propaganda has apparently decided it will arouse anti-Semitic feelings as a means of currying favor in the middle east and as a weapon in the west against the Adenauer government.

The evidence is that the German people are trying to make amends for Hitlerism. A few days ago, Alfred Krupp, German industrialist, agreed to pay $1,429,000 to Jews forced by the Nazis to work in Krupp factories. If this does not cover it sufficiently, Herr Krupp is willing to increase the total to $2,300,000.

The German people have by their expressions and acts since the war demonstrated that they will not tolerate anti-Semitism.

The corrective action by the local authorities and the cooperation of the people of Cologne in investigating the persons responsible for the vandalism indicate that the communist propaganda maneuvers are not going to succeed.

A Christmas Package for their "adopted" daughter in Germany was prepared by members of the Thilmany Girls club, left to right, Florence Farrell, Julie Flynn, Lois Corbeille and Anna Peters. The gifts went to Rita von Majhenyi and her family, whom the club sponsors through the Save the Children Federation. Other Christmas projects of the club included raising funds for purchasing gifts for needy children locally and another gift for a German family, first contacted through CARE.

Planning Unit Approves Two Firms' Requests

Vacating of Alley, Land Rezoning Set For Council Action

Kaukauna — Members of the planning commission will recommend to the council the vacating of an alley as requested by Badger Northland and the rezoning of property as requested by the Kaukauna Machine and Foundry division of Giddings and Lewis.

The Badger Northland request was a formality to clear records as the portion of an alley vacated is located in the center of the concern's manufacturing operation. A portion of the alley was vacated several years ago at the company request.

Additional construction resulted in the new building being constructed on a portion of the alley not legally vacated by the city. Since the alley is completely surrounded by Badger Northland property and inaccessible, the vacating procedure merely straightens the records.

Zoning Change

A representative of Kaukauna Machine and Foundry down the Spartans 27-20. The division of Giddings and Lewis championship finals had the requested the commission to recommend rezoning land north of Lincoln avenue from class B residential to light industry. The land is owned by the concern and has two vacant homes located on the property.

Surrounding property, also owned by the company, is industrially zoned. The concern indicates the existing homes will never be used as residences as the property was purchased with an eye toward possible future expansion. Such expansion would be in the fabricating or machine shop line with the foundry remaining at its present location, thus the new area can be zoned light industrial rather than heavy industrial.

Two Restaurant Fires Answered Within Two Days

Kaukauna — Hot grease igniting resulted in fire calls to two restaurants by firemen within two days but no serious damage was reported in either case.

Grease on a grill at the Villa restaurant, 107 E. Second street, ignited about 5:20 p.m. Tuesday. Firemen found salt had been thrown on flames before they arrived and stood by until the fire burned itself out.

Grease on a French fryer at the Bovin restaurant, 701 Hyland avenue, ignited about 9 a.m. Wednesday. Firemen used dry chemical to extinguish the blaze and had it under control within minutes.

52nd New Home Permit Issued

Kaukauna — The fifty-second new home permit of 1959, six more than issued in 1958, was granted Wednesday by Lothar Kemp, building inspector, to Hoepner Construction, Appleton.

The concern will build a split-level home, costing an estimated $12,000, at 1500 Kenneth avenue.

Now, at Last, Man Bettered by Machine

Cincinnati — Dr. E. L. Saenger, an expert on using atoms in medicine, says automation gadgets in the laboratory are cheaper—and more accurate.

Saenger, who heads a new training plan at the University of Cincinnati in medical use of radiation, says a device that measures radioactivity in a sample and records it can run all night on its own.

This work is mostly routine, he adds, and since some samples take a half hour to measure, there is chance for human error due to plain boredom.

Eye Changes In Spending For Defense

Shifts Will Have
Major Effect on Many Communities

BY FRANK CORMIER

Washington — Important shifts in defense spending, ordered as budget-balancing moves, will have a major economic impact on many American communities in the year ahead.

To hold defense spending to about $41 billion, fiscal planners have decreed that some programs must be scrapped, cut back or stretched out to make room for costly new projects deemed more essential.

Just where the reductions and increases will come has not been spelled out in detail. However, the trend will be toward increasing emphasis on missiles and nuclear ships and cuts in manned aircraft, conventional vessels, ammunition and vehicles.

Feel the Pinch

Communities which have a big stake in programs due for the axe will feel the pinch. On the other hand, those which snag the expanded projects can look forward to new prosperity.

Actually, this sort of thing happened in 1959. Aircraft centers were particularly hard hit as the military canceled out a series of fighter plane programs. The outlook, therefore, is for more of the same in 1960.

The national impact will not be great, however, because cuts in one spot will be offset by increases elsewhere.

The effect of federal outlays on the economy is often measured in terms of spending for goods and services. Goods include everything from paper clips to missiles while services range from laundry charges to the president's salary.

Altogether, Uncle Sam buys more than 10 per cent of all the goods and services produced each year.

Bulky Foods, Fluids Help in True Cases of Constipation

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have been taking enemas for the last 10 years because I have been unable to achieve normal regularity due to constipation.

"I have tried laxatives and various exercises. The results were poor, and because of repeated impactions with very painful hemorrhoids (surgically removed once) I have been taking enemas as a last resort.—R.B."

This is but one of many instances in which I wish I had the writer of the letter in front of me, so I could ask certain simple but significant questions.

Clearly this is, indeed, a case of true constipation. Let's face it: Constipation isn't supposed to be polite drawing room conversation, but it has a tremendous amount to do with the happiness (and health) of people.

Mention of impaction is what persuades me that here we have a real case. Too often there are people who say they are constipated because they don't have a movement once a day, or twice a day, or once every other day, or whatever schedule they assume is correct.

Horrible Example
One horrible example that sticks in my mind is the quick—yes, this happened—distributed handbills reading, "Unless you have at least six movements a day, you are suffering from the worst kind of constipation!" You may say, as I do, that this is utterly ridiculous, but evidently he fooled enough people to stay in business for a while.

People vary. For the average, one reasonable movement a day is about right. For some, perhaps because they eat a little differently, perhaps because they absorb more of the food value in what they eat every other day, perhaps every third day, is enough. Those are the exceptions to the rule, but for them, the pattern is normal, and no harm is done.

But when impaction occurs (a pressing and hardening of the waste matter to be expelled) that is not right.

What To Do
What would I do? Two things in particular. (Neither would be laxatives or exercise, although exercise is good)

Pennsylvania's Delegates Will Remain Neutral

Harrisburg, Pa. — Gov. David Lawrence says Pennsylvania Democrats will not decide their choice for presidential candidate until a couple of months before the national convention July 11.

Lawrence, as governor and a Democratic national committeeman, is expected to lead Pennsylvania's 81-vote delegation to the Los Angeles convention.

Some of Lawrence's aides say privately the governor is leaning toward Sen. W. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) for the nomination but Lawrence has steadfastly taken a neutral stand.

Japs Pick Leader of Treaty Signing Group

Tokyo — The cabinet today formally selected Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi as the leader of the Japanese delegation that will sign the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty. The signing is expected to be in Washington on Jan. 19.

Four plenipotentiaries will accompany the prime minister—Foreign Minister Aichiyo Fujiyama, Mitsuiro Ishii, chairman of the executive board of the liberal-democratic party, Tadashi Adachi, Japan chamber of commerce president, and Koichiro Asakai, ambassador to Washington.

the 1959 level—about $53½ billion.

Economists say the 1960 total may hit $54 billion but is unlikely to go much higher. They base this forecast on the determination of the administration to keep a lid on defense outlays, which account for about 80 per cent of the total.

The biggest uncertainty, they say, is the cost of the farm price support program. Agriculture production is at record levels and could force an increase over the current outlays of more than $4 billion a year.

However, the agriculture department looks for no increase because much of the added production involves livestock not covered by the support program.

Inexpensive
Gift Best
For Shower

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Don't you think that something should be done about limiting the value of shower presents? After all, shower presents are not supposed to be the same as wedding presents, and many of the bride's friends are unable to give handsome shower presents and then a nice wedding present besides. The other afternoon I went to a shower for a girl I know and brought her a nice present, but not a very expensive one. All of the others gave her really valuable gifts which made mine look like nothing at all.

Answer: I agree with you that shower presents should be small ones, and these other presents should be given to her at some other time. Judging by several letters similar to this, it would seem that the shower question is becoming a serious one, and I do think it is a pity to let the spontaneous lightness of a friendly gesture become a burdensome obligation.

Dear Mrs. Post: My employer's wife is quite seriously ill in the hospital. I would like very much to send her some flowers if you don't think I will give the impression of forwardness.

Answer: Unless you have been in his employ for a very short time, it would be entirely proper to send his wife a few flowers or a plant with your wish for a speedy recovery.

Misguided Public Opinion Aggravates Lamenting Aunt

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN: My niece, a lovely girl of 17, is leaving town until her out-of-wedlock child is born. The family is sick over this. Her parents are religious people who have given her fine upbringing and the best of everything. To make matters worse, Landers known snake in the Garden of Paradise.

I'm sorry to say that too many young girls today don't want to hear the "Be moral, be pure, be good" routine. They need a better reason. So I tell 'em: Be smart. Keep your reputation. Keep your dignity. Save yourself for marriage. To do otherwise is stupid and it's risky.

DEAR ANN: Ma is 73, has a bad heart and can go any minute. Since she got sick three years ago, I've had the whole family for Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas dinner. I do all my own cooking and baking. The mob numbers 17. The grocery bill runs about $55 a dinner as they are all big eaters.

My two sisters-in-law are the laziest things God ever created. Also my own sister is no bargain. I'm just recovering from Christmas and Ma said "I'm looking forward to Easter. It's so wonderful to have the family together for dinner."

My husband says I should refuse to be the horse again. He says it's someone else's. I'm afraid an open argument might kill Ma. What is your advice? —The Chump offer your home for the Easter dinner but they must help prepare the food, clean up after, and split the grocery bill four ways. If they refuse, invite Ma and tell them to come after dinner to spend the evening.

DEAR ANN: I was standing on the street corner waiting for a bus and a friend who was passing by offered to give me a lift. We were waiting at a stop light when the car behind plowed into us (bad brakes he said). I was knocked against the windshield. This caused considerable damage to my bridge work and the bill may be about $150.

My nephew who is in law school says the person who picked me up is responsible. Before I send the bill to him I thought I'd write and ask you. —M.C.R.

Dear M.C.R.: Ask a lawyer who has graduated and is in practice—and pay him for what he knows.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Interest in Hobbies Indication of Growth

BY ANGELO PATRI

Somewhere along about 9 or 10 years of age children collect things. Girls as well as boys do this often to the distraction of their mothers who are likely to term the collections nuisances, dust catchers and the like.

This habit of the children is not to be frowned on too darkly for it indicates an interest in the life and the things in it that surrounds them. It is their way of knowing and too, it is an indication of an ability to investigate, to discover actualities for themselves. That should be encouraged.

"But look. Here is his assortment of rocks. I don't believe he has added a stone to that lot this year but if I so much as show them about to dust the shelf he cries out as if I had wounded him to the heart.

"Next, these airplanes. He pestered us for materials, for help, for an increase in his allowance so he could build bigger and better ones. He hasn't said a word about them for six months now.

Storage Place

"At present he is all bound up in scientific experiments. He has a lot of mysterious objects, chemicals, metals, wires, what-nots down there in the basement shop and nobody is allowed to touch anything there. I expect any day now to have him discover something else to putter with. What is this?"

It is an indication of changing interests in a child who is alive, alert and growing. It is annoying to an adult who has long forgotten his childhood and youthful interests and has become submerged in his parental responsibilities.

If a place and a cabinet, a box serves, is provided for shells and stones, and like odds and ends, the dust problem is partially solved. And if there is an attic, or a basement room, the whole problem is solved.

Not Whimsy

To the adult this changing interest looks like whimsy, wasteful, without reward but that is not true. Each interest, each project, started and followed for a period of time adds to the collector's knowledge and skill.

He may not, indeed is not likely to become a geologist, or a philatelist or a scientist of top quality but he has gathered information at first hand, he has explored something of a field, and discovered something about himself and has acquired a degree of knowledge and skill in the process.

From the period of childhood to the start of adolescence the children want to explore, test, discover and experiment. This is essential to their wholesome development. It is basic to their choice of serious study, and selection of their lifework. Be patient with it and encourage it.

Japanese House Gets Set for Baby

TOKYO — Japan's new royal baby isn't due till March but the imperial household is already aflutter.

The baby will be born to Crown Prince Akihito and Princess Michiko, married last April. If it's a boy, he will be in line to become emperor after his father. But boy or girl, elaborate rituals attending an imperial birth are the same.

Immediately after the baby is born, a sword is presented him if a boy, symbolic of the defense of his exalted station. If a girl, she will get a sword as well as a hakama, an ancient item of Japanese clothing something like an ankle-length kilt.

The christening ceremony takes place seven days after the birth.

The emperor and crown prince agree on a name from among several chosen by a panel of scholars who must consult classical documents.

This is followed by the ritual of the first bath, or yokkyo, in which the imperial offspring is bathed while officials outside recite from ancient Japanese documents accompanied by the twanging of bow strings.

This ceremony is to assure the child good health and high cultural attainment. But while the rites of birth adhere to tradition, the child's upbringing will be in a more modern atmosphere.

Akihito and Michiko have insisted a nursery be included in the palace now being built for them, so they can rear their children themselves in a home atmosphere. Hitherto tradition has demanded imperial children be brought up by chamberlains apart from their parents.

Cooperation Needed

... Some people think my generous-hearted although not wife and I are incapable of always tactful.

Relax a little more. Don't take your worries too much to heart. Neither you nor your wife would want to stop striving as you are both assertive by nature, but try to co-operate with each other and enjoy your blessings.

Your greatest handicap is nervous tension. You have an excellent mind but at present writing you are inwardly disturbed. Your letters slant in all directions and the motion of your pen is irregular, quick, jumpy. Many word endings curl back towards the word ("back-to-self") revealing introversion.

Your wife's writing is large, slanted far to the right. Her capital "I" (the ego letter) is tall. Prestige is important to her. She is intensely emotional and very dramatic. She enjoys putting on a good show and may be somewhat temperamental.

Her t-bars are especially interesting. They fly high over the stem and slant upwards. She is ambitious, impatient. When she doesn't get what she wants when she wants it she may fly into a quick temper. Sometimes she says things that she wishes later she had not said, but she doesn't hold grudges. She is scrupulous.

What can you do to save the king of diamonds? Not a thing. But you can save your contract by preserving the king of diamonds for one trick longer.

When West leads the queen of diamonds at the second trick, play a low diamond from the dummy. East cannot gain by ruffing, so West wins the second trick. West naturally leads another diamond, and East ruffs to kill dummy's king.

What have you gained? You can over-ruff East on this third trick. Draw trumps and lead the jack of clubs to establish dummy's long suit.

Tokyo — Communist China boasted today that record 1959 output enabled it to soar past the major industrial and agricultural production goals of its second 5-year plan two years ahead of schedule.

Los Angeles — A $1,180,000 defamation suit has been filed against actress Penny Singleton by Jackie Bright, national administrator for the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Bright alleged she maliciously accused him of mismanagement and embezzlement of $50,000 in union money.

In the general subjects department, second semester courses in public speaking, child psychology, fundamentals of painting and photography will be available.

In addition to the second semester courses, 25 courses will be continued from last semester. Bertram said completion of the first semester is not necessary for second semester courses, because they cover different material.

Administration of the Winnebago county airport is handled by the aviation committee of the county board which is named each year by the county board chairman. The board during the early days of the airport rejected a proposal for an airport commission of six citizens named by the county judge to handle the airport activities. Committee members are, left to right, Steve J. Wittman, airport manager; Supv. Elmer Steinhilber, Oshkosh; Supv. Alvin Staffeld, Neenah, committee chairman; Supv. Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh, county board chairman; and Supv. Louis Zernbach, Oshkosh. Absent was Supv. Floyd Shurbert, town of Algoma, assemblyman who was attending the state legislative session.

Three Votes Bought Winnebago County an Airport Back in 1940

BY ALLAN EKVALL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh — Three votes bought Winnebago county an airport back in 1940. It was by the margin of 23 to 20 that on Oct. 11, 1940, the Winnebago county board approved spending $75,000 from its general fund to purchase the Oshkosh airport and the surrounding farm land.

It might have been by only two votes had one Menasha supervisor, Val Landgraf, been at the meeting since the Twin Cities were sold — save for one man — against the airport purchase and in the several succeeding years against putting any money into it.

That one Neenah supervisor who voted for the Oshkosh airport was Henry Schultz, chairman of the aviation committee of the board. This vote was believed by many Neenah residents and city and county officials to have led to his defeat at the polls the following April, ending a long term on the board.

Thomsen seeks 2nd Term on County Board

Supervisor From Neenah 9th Ward 7th to Announce

Neenah — Oliver Thomsen, 1069 Congress street, today secured nomination papers for reelection to the Winnebago county board as supervisor from the Ninth ward.

He is in his first term on the board. A vice president of Wisconsin Container corporation, Thomsen served on the park and recreation board from 1947 until he resigned Dec. 5, 1956, when he moved outside the city. The area into which he moved later became part of the city.

He is the third county board member to secure papers for election at the April election. The other two are Robert Skalmoski of the Fourth ward and Raymond Gischia of the Sixth ward.

Only two aldermanic candidates have announced their candidacy. They are Joseph Rhine, a former alderman, who is seeking the Second ward post held by Ald. Ewald Miller, and Donald Gomoll, who was named by the county in October to succeed

St. John — 5:30, 7, 8, 9, 10 a.m. and 11 a.m.

St. Patrick — 5:30, 6:45, 8, 9:15 and 10:45 a.m. and noon. Ralph Westland, who had moved from the city, Gomoll will be seeking the year remaining on Westland's term.

Both of the school board incumbents up for election have secured their nomination papers. They are Mrs. Marian Tollette, board secretary, and Frank X. Hochholzer, board vice chairman.

Winneconne Man's Car Hits Ice, Overturns

Master Plan for Rural Schools Being Studied

Boards Had Been Reviewing Effect of New State Law

Neenah — Rural school boards in the Neenah-Menasha area have been studying for some time the effect the new state law, known as Bill 48s, would have on the school districts so that all necessary steps can be taken prior to the June 30, 1962, deadline.

The new law requires all territory within the state to be included in districts operating high schools.

A master plan also is being prepared by the Winnebago county school committee which currently is studying proposals for the Neenah area.

Proposals for the Neenah area which have been prepared by the state department of public instruction, it was learned to day.

Armin Schroeder, director of the Lakeview school board, a district with about 250 pupils in its school said today the law has been a source of concern and study to the school boards of such school districts as Lakeview, Tullar, Spring Road and numerous others throughout the state.

The Ultimate in Do-It-Yourself projects is the aluminum foil Christmas tree at the Martin Hendricks home, Richard drive, town of Menasha. Viewing the tree are Lynn and Jill Carlson, nieces of Mrs. Hendricks. The tree started with about a 1 by 1 board, cut down to be 8-sided, into which holes were drilled for wire branches. Mrs. Hendricks rolled the aluminum foil on a curtain rod crushed it down, and then smoothed it out a bit again before placing it over the wire branches.

Rural School Boards Study New State Law

plan being prepared by the Winnebago county school committee and its study of proposals for the Neenah area which have been prepared by the state department of public instruction, Schroeder indicated the responsibility for performing in accordance with the law rests with authorized school officials and that in the Neenah area the county superintendent of schools has been acting as liaison agent to the Winnebago county school committee.

He emphasized the law has become a political football, "rather muddy to handle because the law includes a clause permitting territory annexed to a city school district to be annexed to the city, in part, for all purposes.

"Some town board members have been confusing the educational aspects of the law with annexation problems and in so doing assume the responsibilities of the school boards in each school district.

Annexation for other than school purposes would reduce the size of a township as well as reduce its assessed valuation.

Await Adjournment

"While I am no authority on town statutes," Schroeder declared, "the town board has the financial, roadway and property preservation responsibility of the township and a loss of tax revenue is important to that extent."

At Lakeview school, he pointed out his board will not commission the citizens committee to study the law until the legislature adjourns and it is assured that no further amendments will be made.

Lakeview board members, however, will be meeting with the city school board and others during the middle of January for a general discussion of the new law.

Menasha Macs' Annual Meeting Planned Sunday

Menasha — The Menasha Athletic association's annual meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Eagles clubrooms.

Final reports will be made on all of the year's activities and officers and board members will be elected. Lunch and refreshments will be served.

Activities sponsored by the association include basketball and baseball teams, cribbage league, picnic and professional basketball programs. Since last year's meeting, the club also opened up clubrooms on Main street.

Peter Rohe is the current president. Other officers are Jerry Heiss, vice president; Dick Rohe, treasurer; and Neil Haack, secretary.

A total of 260 women participated in the first semester gym classes. Further information may be had by calling Mrs. Ole Jorgensen, the instructor, after Jan. 15.

Maczmarek Hits 233-563 Totals In Banta Wheel

Menasha — Larry Kaczmarek of the Pressroom team powered a 233 game and 563 set to lead the way in the Banta Men's Bowling league Wednesday night at the Menasha Recreation alleys.

Linotype and Pressroom, deadlocked for first place, both won three games to up their records to 26-16. They have a 11 game margin.

Cairo — In Egypt's western desert, a tribesman has to kidnap the girl he wants to marry.

At least, he has to pretend he is kidnapping her. On the wedding night, the groom rides into the village, seizes the girl and rides away with her. The men of her family grab their guns and blaze away but all the bullets are wide of the mark.

This kind of marriage is traditional among the Awald Aly tribe who live near Mer-sa Matruh 200 miles from Cairo. In centuries past, a man had to prove his worth by capturing a wife from a hostile tribe. Today, it's all an act, but it symbolizes the tribesman's bravery and the family's reluctance to give up their daughter.

Stach Jolts 255 Loner; Runnerup 639 Threesome

Menasha — Lee Burdick of the Hedberg Drug team hampered a 649 series and Ormie

Stach of Angermeyer's topped a 255 game to divide the spoils in the Fox Valley Classic Bowling league Wednesday night at Lakeroad Lanes.

Stach came up with the runnerup 639 series while Burdick included a 253 loner in his peak series.

Ray Rehbein collected 236, 631, Elmer Schultz 625, Jack Sturgis 620, Rod Kiefer 614, Willia Karnopp 611, Hilly Koslowski 608, and "Moe" Doen 602.

High 500-plus totals included Jim Haack 599, Earl Haase 594, "Rusty" Schreiber 585, Earl Berndt 584, Bert Voss 582, Ed Peterson 577, Harvey Badtke 572, Erv Kuchenbecker 571 and Irv Hall 565.

Hedberg's fired a 1,026 game and Lakeroad posted 2,899 for the best team scores in the scratch league.

The standings show Jessup Realty still in first place with a 39-12 record. Its margin is a game over Hedberg's. Having been defeated on these various occasions, the Twin City supervisors began to work hard for the development of the airport to its present status. Among those who spearheaded this development were Supv. E. G. Sonnenberg of Menasha and Alvin Staford of Neenah, present chairman of the aviation committee.

Hearing at Neenah

But the Twin Cities still wanted an airport closer than the Oshkosh port. The Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce aviation committee in 1948 proposed that the county purchase the Valley Airways or an airport in the same vicinity to develop into a Class I airport.

The state aeronautics commission conducted a hearing on this request May 20 but its report did not lead the county to acquire a second airport.

Board members in 1946 rejected a proposal advanced by several business groups that the airport be administered by an airport commission of six persons appointed by the county judge. The board decided it wanted to keep control of the airport in the hands of the county board and its aviation committee.

When you use aluminum foil in the oven to catch spillage, don't cover the entire bottom of the oven with it. Use a piece of foil just slightly larger than the pan you are using. Turn up the edges of the foil and place it on the rack beneath the baking dish.

If you cover all of the oven bottom with foil, it will cut off circulation of air and your food won't bake properly.

To make a stuffed tomato salad, cut the tomato in eight sections nearly through to the bottom. Stuff with egg filling, cottage cheese or diced cucumber and celery.

Minced chives added to creamed potatoes will give a delightful flavor difference.

Add a spoonful of raspberry preserves to broiled or skill-cooked peaches and serve with baked ham.

For a change when making Waldorf salad, add crisply cooked crumbled bacon to the mixture of celery and apples taken by city police.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolff, Milwaukee, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon, to Melford Robbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Robbert.

Mr. Robbert is presently teaching at Northwestern Lutheran academy, Mowbridge, S.D.

A June wedding is being planned.

Menasha — The Menasha city offices and water and light department have been getting each other's calls in the last few days, owing to confusion of the city treasurer and water and light departments.

Proposes Selling Field

A week later the board took up an earlier resolution submitted by Supv. Gordon E. Mortensen of Neenah that because of the close vote of the board on the purchase, only 23 to 20, and because the reported $75,000 cost to the county began to look as if the county would be paying out $200,000 to $500,000 by the time the developments were completed, and that because the taxpayers were not aware of this when the purchase vote was taken, the airport should be sold to the highest bidder.

This received only 13 affirmative votes to 30 negative votes.

In 1942 Supv. John Heigl of Neenah moved to deed the airport to the federal government to get out of the "financially unwise venture" but this was tabled.

Having been defeated on these various occasions, the Twin City supervisors began to work hard for the development of the airport to its present status. Among those who spearheaded this development were Supv. E. G. Sonnenberg of Menasha and Alvin Staford of Neenah, present chairman of the aviation committee.

Zephyrs Top Hosts For Tourney Crown

Use Strong Defense to Trip Marinette Catholic 43 to 35; Up Skein to 10 Straight

Marinette — St. Mary, known principally for its offensive talents, showed that it could play fine defense, too, in defeating Marinette Central Catholic, 43-35, here Wednesday night for the championship in the first Northeast Wisconsin Holiday tournament.

In notching their tenth straight win, the Zephyrs limited the tough Cavaliers to nine field goals. They came up with 19 fielders themselves, with only five free throws.

Marinette committed only nine fouls and the Menashans didn't get a bonus try at all in the second half.

Rebounding was another strong point in the Zephyrs favor. They controlled both boards, frequently getting two and three tips after missing a shot. The Cavaliers got very few second chances after failing on the first.

Finds The Touch The Menashans got off to a poor start. They had three fouls in the first 49 seconds of play and didn't score in the first half of the initial period.

After seeing Marinette take a 6-0 lead, St. Mary finally found the touch and connected on the next 13 points of the quarter while holding Marinette scoreless. At 6-6 it went into the pressing defense. Dean Schreiner hit two bas-

Pick Roster For Zephyr Alumni Tilt

Menasha — Stars of recent St. Mary High school squads will make up alumni squad which will challenge St. Mary varsity at 8 p.m. Saturday night.

Rechner Scores

Tony Rechner made the first field goal of the second period, upping the Zephyr lead to 15-6.

Marinette later cut the spread to two points at 17-15, but the Zephyrs went on to a 23-17 halftime lead. The Cavaliers had the bonus with 44 seconds gone in the second frame but fortunately for the Zephyrs, the hosts missed three first shots on the 1 and 1 situation.

Koerner and Schreiner hit fielders to open third period action for the Zephyrs, boosting the lead to 10 points.

St. Mary's narrowest lead was seven points at 27-20 and the widest, 35-23. It was 35-25 at the period's end. Marinette was limited to two field goals and four free throws with Bob

Pecotte and Mike Donovan, getting all the points.

Slash Lead to 6

The home team made the first four points of the final period, slashing the lead to six points but St. Mary played control ball and Koerner and Schreiner hit quick baskets, Marinette didn't get any closer than eight points in the last 34 minutes.

Schreiner picked up St. Mary scoring honors with 16 points. Koerner hit 10. All of the seven players employed by Coach Ralph McClone broke into the scoring column.

Donovan led Marinette with 19 and Pecotte was held pretty well in check, getting 12, but only two goals from the field.

The pair and Bill Bradley, who had four free throws accounted for all of Marinette's points. Bill Early, who hit 20 against St. John Tuesday night, was blanked.

The box score:

St. Mary	19	5	19	19	Marinette	35
FG FT F	10	4	10	10	FG FT F	10
Becker	1	0	4	4	Bradley	0	4

Totals	19	5	19		Totals	9	17

Free throws missed: St. Mary 5 (Schreiner 2, Herlache, Becker, Laemrlich); Marinette Catholic 13 (Donovan 5, Pecotte 5, Bradley 2, Kiefer).

Syracuse, Georgia, Ole Miss and UW Are Bowl Favorites

New Decade of College Football to Begin Friday

By the Associated Press

A new decade of college football begins Friday with Syracuse, Georgia, Mississippi and Wisconsin favored to ring it in with bowl victories.

Unbeaten Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team, but never a bowl winner, is favored by 13 points over Texas in the Cotton bowl at Dallas, Tex.

Georgia, the Southeastern conference champion, rates

12 points better than Missouri in the Orange bowl in Miami, Fla.

Mississippi, despite a 7-3 mid-season loss to Louisiana State, is favored by seven points in their post-season rematch in the Sugar bowl at New Orleans, La.

Wisconsin, the Big Ten titlist, is a touchdown favorite over host Washington in the Rose bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

All four major bowls will be radio broadcast and televised nationally.

In other Friday bowls, Presbyterian (9-1) goes against Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) in the Tangerine bowl, a night battle at Orlando, a night battle at Orlan-

Badgers Seek to Avenge Rose Bowl Loss of 1953

Huskies Also Eye 1st Win At Pasadena

Pasadena, Calif. — The usual giddy atmosphere plus wonder at what the future holds, prevailed today on the eve of the Wisconsin-Washington game in the Rose bowl.

The excitement is easily understood. This is the forty-sixth game in the history of the oldest post-season game of all — and the fourteenth in an intriguing series between the Big Ten and what was once the Pacific Coast conference.

But the Big Ten-PCC pact, as written, expires Jan. 2.

Can Name Representative

The PCC is dead. In the future, the Rose bowl contest belongs to the newly-created Athletic Association of Western Universities — otherwise known as the Big Five — and the Tournament of Roses.

The Big Five can name the Western representative. As matters stand in the Midwest, a Big Ten school can accept or reject an invitation to play here.

To the players involved, however — the Badgers, winners of their first undisputed title in the Big Ten since 1912.

Auerbach Has 2nd 17-Game Win Streak

Celtics Win, 96-82, Over Hawks To Tie Record

St. Louis, Mo. — "Red" Auerbach, who says "we just play 'em one at a time" has led his Boston Celtics to 17 straight victories in National Basketball Association play, something no other man has done.

The old Washington

Capitals also won 17 straight back in 1946. Auerbach coached that team, too. The Celtics' No. 17 was achieved Wednesday night at the expense of the St. Louis Hawks, 96-82.

"We certainly earned it," said Auerbach. "Nobody gave us anything."

Hawk owner Ben Kerner spoke shudderingly of big Bill Russell, the Boston center. "He beats you psychologically. He just jams 'em down everybody's throat."

Hawk Bob Pettit, most valuable player in the NBA last year, agreed.

Down My Craw

"He stuffed two lay-ups down my craw, and I noticed that Clyde Lovellette was ahead of him three times and lost every one of those too."

But Auerbach allowed that his great reserve strength was as much a factor as anything in Boston's astonishing record of 30 victories and four defeats.

He mentioned Gene Conley, Philadelphia Phil pitcher and Celtic reserve, who contributed a good third quarter to the defeat of the Hawks. Conley played only 16 minutes but scored 12 points.

The Hawks are usually the Celtics' worst nemesis but this year it has been no contest. The Celtics have defeated the Hawks in all four contests the two teams have played.

Boston will face Cincinnati Friday night when it tries for No. 18 and a record breaker. Boston has beaten Cincinnati six times in six meetings this year.

Oshkosh Tops Knights, Wins Meet Crown

Oshkosh — Oshkosh led all the way Wednesday night for a 79-70 triumph over St. Norbert in the finals of the Oshkosh Invitational Basketball tournament.

Carroll college took over third place with a 79-69 win over Winona (Minn.).

Oshkosh was ahead, 41-29, at halftime and did not allow St. Norbert to come closer than four points.

Ron Dibelius led Oshkosh scoring with 29 points.

Terror Cagers Will Play Host To Rockets Saturday Night

AHS' Nussbaum

Returns to Active Duty

By MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The nicest Christmas present of all for Appleton High school's John Nussbaum was a green light.

It wasn't the sort of light which could be found glowing on Christmas trees in most Fox Cities homes during the last several weeks.

This "green light" was a go-ahead from an Appleton bone specialist for Nussbaum, star Terror senior athlete, to start taking part in regular AHS basketball practices.

47th Renewal

Nussbaum's first appearance of the season in the white, orange and blue Appleton "game" silks could come Saturday night when the Terrors welcome Neenah. However, he probably won't play for another week.

Saturday's non-conference engagement is the forty-seventh renewal of a venerable rivalry.

This isn't the first time that Nussbaum's physical condition was a special topic of interest during the holidays. Bothered by skin trouble and a chronic ankle injury last December, John was given the week off from Terror practice before the Neenah game.

The 1958-9 all-Fox River Valley conference performer showed no rustiness in that one, pouring in 19 points as AHS won, 58-47, in Neenah's spacious bounceball palace.

Blazing Start

That triumph gave Appleton a 30-16 edge over the Rockets in the all-time series. The Terrors' Dick Emanuel now holds a 5-3 lead over Neenah's Ole Jorgenson in their personal rivalry.

Saturday, Appleton might be appearing for the first time in its new orange, short sleeve warm-up jerseys.

After a blazing start against

Bill Fitzpatrick inserted Coach

Kons into the game and the reserve gave his team a big lift under the boards and, in addition, claimed the Chutlers' scoring honors with 18 points.

After the first few minutes,

Kons, Harland Hietpas, Ed

Hanninen and Co. controlled the rebounding.

St. John first moved ahead at 14-13 and was involved in a

62-40 going into the last segment. Kons had 13 of the Chutlers' markers.

27-Point Bulge

The winners had a 27-point bulge a couple of times in the last quarter and by scoring the game's last seven points

the Columbus five got the final spread down to 20.

Kons led the Chutler scorers with eight baskets and two free throws. Hietpas, who was named on the 5-man all-tournament team, added 15 and Mike

Bongers made 12. Also breaking into the double figures were Ade Eben with 11 and

Ed Hammie, 10.

Columbus and game honors

went to Ralph Jensen with 19 points.

Year's top experiment—interleague trading, which opened new vistas of off-season baseball interest.

No attempt is being made to chronicle completely the many high spots in Fox Cities athletics, but even a partial '59 list would have to include such occurrences as the unprecedented (for this area) jump of a Fox player—"Zorro" Versalles—into a major league uniform in the midst of the season . . . the halting at 45 straight of Lawrence's road basketball losing streak . . . the launching of a vigorous sports program of a new high school, Xavier . . . the construction of a new Appleton Curling club building . . . the winning of three state track titles by Kimberly's Darrell Jansen . . . the running of a Midwest conference record mile (4:17.6) by Vike Tad Pinkerton . . . and the winning of a third Fox Cities golf title in four years by Don Strutz.

Things I'd like to see in 1960: a fight winner who doesn't clamor immediately for a shot at the champion; a "player of the year" award winner who isn't "completely surprised," a baseball manager who, in spring training, is sure his team can't finish in the first division; a football coach who predicts victory for his team in an upcoming game; and a National Hockey league game without an unscheduled fight.

and the Washington Huskies, kingpins of the Big Five or old PCC—these details are mere incidental.

The game is the thing. So will it be for around 10,000 fans expected to witness the battle, plus a national television audience (NBC) at 4 p.m., CST.

Wisconsin, featuring a bruising attack, a huge line and a fine quarterback in Dale Hackbart, can attain one final distinction.

The Badgers can avenge the one Rose bowl loss of a Big Ten team since the series began in 1947. The loss was their own—to Southern California in 1953, 7-0.

Victors included Michigan, Illinois, Iowa and Michigan State twice apiece. Ohio State, three times and Northwestern once.

The winners were California four times, UCLA three times, Southern Cal twice, and Stanford, Oregon and Oregon State.

The state of Washington has sad memories, too. The Huskies in four trips to Pasadena have had three defeats since a 14-14 tie with Navy in 1924.

Gator Bowl Game Rates As Toss-Up

42,000 Expected To See Arkansas Meet Georgia Tech

Jacksonville, Fla. — (AP) — If Georgia Tech stops the Arkansas running attack in the Gator bowl football game Saturday, the Yellow Jackets had better be ready for a lot of Arkansas passes.

The warning comes from Frank Broyles, coach of the Southwest conference Razorbacks who have been working out here since Monday.

Coach Bobby Dobb and his Georgia Tech players arrive today for the fifteenth annual Gator bowl game.

Normal Game

"We will try to play our normal game," said Broyles. "I've seen too many teams try new stuff in post season games and fall flat. Our normal game means quite a bit of running — with a running pass."

Broyles says Tech's 6-4 season mark compared to Arkansas' 8-2 mark doesn't mean anything.

The game, expected to draw a capacity crowd of 42,000, is rated a toss-up among oddsmakers. It will be televised nationally (CBS). The kickoff is set for 1:15 p.m. (CST).

Big 10 Quints Prepare for Loop Openers

Illinois, NU Score Wins in Final Tournament Firing

By The Associated Press Northwestern and Illinois grabbed victories as Big Ten basketball teams wound up holiday tournament firing Wednesday night as also-rans.

Best showing in the scattered meets was by Iowa. The Hawkeyes were bowled over, 96-83, by Cincinnati to settle for runner-up honors in the New York Holiday festival.

Takes 5th Place

Illinois downed Stanford, 74-62, for fifth place in the Los Angeles Classic. Gov. Vaugha headed the Illini with 18 points.

In the same meet, Northwestern trimmed Michigan, 79-72, to take seventh place. "Chuck" Brandt of the Wildcats hit for 27 points while Terri Miller led Michigan with 22 and Lovell Farris added 19.

Minnesota was knocked out of seventh place in the Dixie Classic by losing, 57-48, to North Carolina. The Gophers' Ron Johnson took scoring honors with 14 points.

The Big Ten title race starts Saturday with three conference games — Purdue at Indiana, Iowa at Minnesota and Michigan State at Wisconsin.

AFL's Boston Club Showing Interest in Holy Cross' Green

Baltimore — (UPI) — Tom Greene, former Holy Cross quarterback, says he has no definite preference toward playing with either Los Angeles or Boston in the new American Football league.

Greene, who lives at nearby Pikesville, was recently signed by Los Angeles, but Boston has shown interest in securing him from the Chargers.

"It would be nice to play in Boston where I have many friends," Greene said. "But I've never been to Los Angeles and it certainly would be great to play for Mr. (Frank) Leahy."

Wisconsin Cheese

Madison — (UPI) — There was no American cheese market report today because of the holiday week. There will be no market summary Friday, the day the report is usually issued.

Fog May Cut Visibility For Tonight

New Year's eve driving may be complicated by fog. Early forecasts indicate a rise in temperatures Friday may cause a good deal of it.

New Year's day is expected to be pleasant, with increasing cloudiness helping to cut down on brightness that could be annoying the day after the wake of the old year.

Saturday is expected to start the usual winter pattern — more snow!

The fluffy fall Wednesday night and this morning developed only .04 of an inch of precipitation to start the Fox Cities back to a substantial snow cover after the unusual and unseasonable thaw and rain over the weekend.

Except for sections north of Highway 8 where there are some slippery spots, roads in the state are reported in good winter driving condition.

Rollie Winter Rolls 584 Set

Gerry Friestrom Blasts 577 in Merchants' Loop

Rollie Winter created scores of 233 and 584 to show the way for the Pond's Sports team in the Industrial league at Hahn's Wednesday night.

Knoke's (38-10) won two games and leads the league by seven games.

Gerry Friestrom blasted a 577 for Kipps in the Merchants' wheel at the Elks club. One of his games for Kipps was a 242. Horne Furniture (30-18) copped three games and moved into a tie for first place with Jahnke's.

There were no honor counts in latest Valley Iron Works bowling at the Barn. The Shorts (35-16) had their lead cut to eight games.

Other Industrial honor counts: Herb Simon, 561; Art Nickash, 567; LeRoy Christoferson, 569; Phil Behl, 550; Herb Raminger, 570; Gene Rusch, 577; Dick Jabas, 550; Harold Council, 559; Bob Mirkes, 580; Mel Schmidt, 229, 573; Fred Booth, 565.

Christmas, New Year's

Sunday Holidays Occur More Frequently in '60

Sunday holidays will be more common than usual in 1960.

The Sunday holiday or "special" day list includes Valentine's day, Christmas and, if you want to look a full year ahead, New Year's day. Besides, there are the normal Sunday holidays, such as Mother's and Father's days, Palm Sunday, Easter and other religious holidays.

July 4 just misses Sunday, falling instead on Monday, but lengthening the weekend delightfully.

Feb. 29 Then there's Feb. 29 — not exactly a holiday, but such a rare day it might as well be. It will be a Monday when the girls proverbially can pursue the fellows.

The year's first holiday is, of course, Friday or New Year's day. The next — for some at least — is Friday, Feb. 12, Lincoln's birthday anniversary. Two days later comes Valentine's day, also Septuagesima Sunday, leaving 70 days until Easter. Other Easter days and dates are Ash Wednesday, March 2; Palm Sunday, April 10; Good Friday, April 15, and Easter, April 17.

St. Patrick's day, March 17, falls on a Thursday in 1960.

Jewish Holidays

Important Jewish holidays include Sunday, March 13, Purim; Tuesday, April 12, first day of Passover; Wednesday, June 1, first day of Pentecost; Thursday, Sept. 22, Rosh Hashonah, the first day of the Jewish new year; Saturday, Oct. 1, Yom Kippur, the day of atonement; and Wednesday, Dec. 14, Chanukah.

May contains three prominent days — Sunday, May 8, devoted to mothers; Saturday, May 21, honoring the armed forces; and Monday, May 30, Memorial day.

June contains Flag day, Tuesday, June 14, and Father's day, June 19.

Except for the Fourth of July, July and August are sparse holiday months, leaving Monday, Sept. 5, Labor day, the next day for merry making.

Halloween

October features that ghostly day — Halloween, Monday, Oct. 31, giving little' hobgoblins a whole weekend to prepare their costumes.

Perhaps the most important day of the year will be Tuesday, Nov. 8, when Americans will go to the polls to choose their president for the next four years. Following it will be a day of remembrance — Veterans day (formerly Armistice day) on Friday, Nov. 11.

Thanksgiving will fall on Thursday, Nov. 24.

There are a few other "holidays" for those who like to celebrate them. Ground hog's day, Feb. 2, falls on Tuesday, and if the beast comes above ground and views his shadow, we'll have six more weeks of winter, so the legend goes.

Thomas Edison's birthday is Thursday, Feb. 11. Grant's birthday is Wednesday, April 27.

Chicago Livestock

Allis-Chalmers Head Optimistic

The Massachusetts Mutual Life insurance company has passed the $1 billion mark in individual life insurance sales in one year, for the first time in the 100-year history of the company.

Combined sales of group and individual policies are approaching $14 billion and running approximately 10.4 per cent ahead of the previous year, according to President Leland J. Kalmbach. Individual policy sales for the first 11 months were 6.7 per cent greater than for the corresponding periods of 1958.

The company reported that insurance in force has doubled since 1950 to over $7 billion, and assets have doubled since 1947 and are estimated to exceed $2.3 billion. Massachusetts Mutual ranks tenth among life insurance companies in the U.S. in total assets, ninth in individual insurance, and twenty-first in group insurance.

The climate for farm equipment sales in 1960 should be "much the same" as in 1959, he said. Construction sales should be "every bit as good as 1959, which saw an increase, he predicted. He expected gains to be made in highway engineering equipment.

Stevenson expects industrial equipment sales to go up in 1960, and electrical power sales to continue to rise. He said the company's backlog of industrial and electrical equipment was 22 per cent higher than a year ago.

Rambler Builds 400,000 Cars, Sets Record

First Independent A to Maker to Pass That Mark

Kenosha—(P)—The 400,000th Rambler of 1959 was completed Wednesday night and the American Motors corporation added another first in its rise to become the nation's leading independent automobile maker.

Final assembly of the frost white, 4-door Rambler gave ABC the distinction of becoming the first independent in the U. S. to manufacture more than 400,000 cars in a year.

The previous record for an independent was 307,000, produced by Willys Motors, Inc. in 1928.

Long Weekend
J. W. Mueller, works manager for AMC, said the firm would finish the 1959 production year at noon today with a record 401,400 cars. AMC said it would close at noon and reopen on Monday.

AMC claims 1959 will end with Rambler in third place in the nation behind Ford and Chevrolet, respectively, with Plymouth fourth. Plymouth, however, claims third place with 1959 production of 411,055, including its new Valiant. AMC includes the smaller Rambler American—with its different body style and engine—in overall production figures, as well as the larger Rambler Ambassador.

Ward's Automotive Reports of Detroit will not have final figures available for at least another five to six weeks. At present, Plymouth is claiming third in sales behind Ford and Chevrolet.

Rambler Fourth

Ward's says that for a standard single line of cars the sales figures now available list Ford, Chevrolet, Plymouth and Rambler in that order.

During the same period of 1958, AMC turned out 216,000 units.

As the 40,000th Rambler rolled off the assembly line at 8:36 p. m. Wednesday, Mueller ordered the line stopped for photographers.

AMC is the largest employer in Wisconsin, with a work force of about 23,500. Increased production schedules for 1960 brought an announcement from George Romney, president of AMC, that the work force here and at the Milwaukee body plant would total 27,000 or perhaps 30,000 by the end of February.

House Pitchmen Often Dishonest

BY LOUIS J. LEFKOWITZ

Atty. Gen. State of New York

One of the greatest annoyances the American housewife must face is the door-to-door salesman.

Equipped with every gimmick in the book, armies of these itinerant pitchmen visit nearly every community in America to sell merchandise ranging from vacuum cleaners to hair oil.

These salesmen gain entrance to the home under various guises. Although some of them make the direct hard sell approach, many get a foot in your door by representing themselves as television.

Sylvia Porter is on Vacation.

tion rating checkers, plumbing and electrical inspectors, firemen and even agents for reputable companies.

One vicious scheme has been perpetrated by salesmen representing themselves as firemen, conducting a survey of homes to determine if they have adequate fire protection.

After making a survey of the house from cellar to attic, the alleged fireman describes the house as a fire trap and recommends a fire alarm system be installed. Then, it just so happens he is in a position to recommend the exact type of system. In fact, he can take an order if the householder falls for the story.

While the vacuum cleaner pitchman — not to be confused with honest salesmen from a reputable company — is a particularly ubiquitous door-to-door variety, there are still thousands of housewives who fall victim to his glib sales talk every year.

Last month a number of housewives on Long Island complained they had unwittingly signed contracts for vacuum cleaners thinking they had only signed an on-approval receipt.

Court Case

As a result of these complaints we charged Air-Way Greater New York corporation with operating a scheme designed to cheat and defraud the public. The attorney general's office alleged in its court papers that salesmen representing themselves as repairmen called on housewives to inspect their vacuum cleaners. They were charged with exaggerating the extent of repairs needed and at the same time attempting to interest housewives in a new cleaner.

A new vacuum cleaner would be left in the home and the old machine removed for repair. The housewife was induced to sign a receipt supposedly entitling her to use the new machine while the repairs were being made. The papers on file in court allege the receipt was a contract obligating her to pay $250 for the new cleaner. This is a variation of the on-approval receipt racket.

et which is the stock in trade of some door-to-door salesmen who leave unordered merchandise with the promise they will return if it is not wanted. The salesmen rarely, if ever, comes back, and the housewife finds herself obligated to pay for the article.

Finance Company A new angle has been developed by some of these operators. To enforce collection they will immediately turn over the contract to a finance company which will enforce payment. This third party will obtain payment by legal action if necessary. The finance company is not concerned with the manner in which the goods were sold or whether the customer is satisfied.

Where the financing agency can prove it is "holder in due course" it can legally force the purchaser of the merchandise to pay the amount in full. We have charged, however, in some cases that the seller of the goods and the finance company acted in collusion with full knowledge of all the facts.

Abbott Maintenance corporation, charged with defrauding men interested in part-time employment, is alleged to have arranged with Instalment Department, Inc., to enforce collection of money due on floor waxing machines sold by Abbott. The attorney general's office has charged, in an action begun to dissolve both corporations, that Instalment Department was fully aware of the practices of Abbott and had all the facts concerning the debt and they were partners in the scheme.

Be suspicious of the high-pressure pitchman, particularly the one who uses the approaches indicated here. Your own knowledge that the swindlers exist will be a great weapon against them.

New Year's Day Special

For All, Golden Recalls

New Year's day celebrates New Year's eve. After all, the circumcision of Jesus. It's a year, like the week, has to start somewhere. Jan. 1 is a convenient time. We live in a business world. People count up profit and loss on Dec. 31. What could be happier than starting the new year with a party, profit or no.

If you're young you can worry about whether she'll spend New Year's eve with you, and if she will, you can start worrying how much she'll eat. If you're old, you and your wife can stay up and toast the coming year with hot milk. On New Year's eve we all have one thing in common: we're all up until midnight.

If you're old, you and your wife can stay up and toast the coming year with hot milk. On New Year's eve we all have one thing in common: we're all up until midnight.

On the lower east side we all looked forward to New Year's eve. It made no difference whether you were a hat presser or a tailor or a law student or a peddler who tramped New Jersey with a pack of needles and thread on your back. New Year's eve made everyone a sophisticate.

The question you heard all over the east side was, "Have you got a table?" People rented tables for a New Year's eve party. They wanted them in halls, in restaurants, in coffee shops, even in kosher delicatessens.

"Tables' Fashionable

These tables were free and vacant any night in the year. Many of them would have been free and vacant on New Year's eve, too. But young men put a special emphasis on the table for their party. So you went into Moscowitz's or Katz's and told them you wanted a table for New Year's eve. This was assurance you'd have a good time.

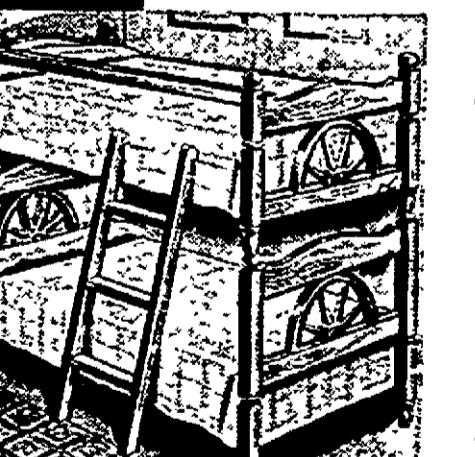

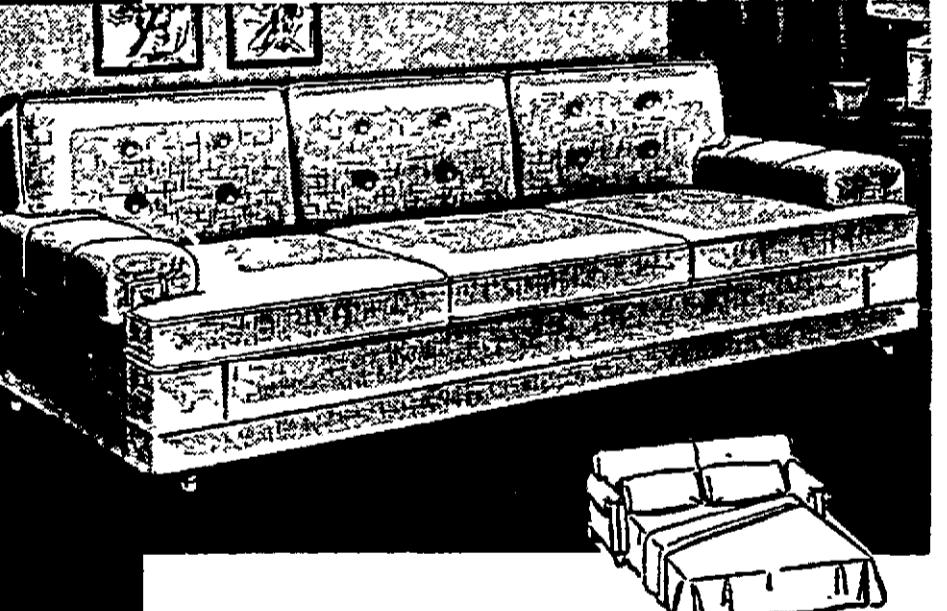

It is true that for many of these places you took pot luck. The table that was emp-a music lover
